Rockefeller—Conqueror Tough Human Body Wanted—Soft Words The Insured Crow

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1921.

Lloyd George is not coming to America after all, and that's a pity. Since Cromwell's day there has been no more interesting or more powerful man in England.

In Lloyd George's brain there is a reservoir of power, patience, perseverance and energy that you couldn't replace with the brains of a hundred average "great men." It is a pity that this country is not to see him.

Yesterday afternoon in Pekin, China, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., reading a friendly message from his father, gave to the Chinese city a hospital and medical college that cost eight million dollars. The gift was not charity. The Rockefellers don't consider it charity, for China has given them, in cash, many times eight million dollars.

This Rockefeller gift on the other side of the earth represents common sense. It will save the lives of millions of Chinese—and they will buy more oil, but Rockefeller cares nothing about that.

The important thing is that it will make the world healthier, and help to clean up Asia as a spot that breeds diseases, the worst plagues, then sends them traveling to us.

Young Mr. Rockefeller, with iron gray hair, thin, pale face, made of hard work and pure water only, addressing powerful officials of the world's most ancient people, giving them eight million dollars' worth of science that they don't know how to provide for themselves, is a new picture. It shows human energy transformed into dollars, the soldiers that never eat or sleep, conquering with science, farther from home than any military conqueror ever carried victory.

Alexander never reached China, heard of it vaguely, perhaps.

Mr. Rockefeller goes there, his entire fighting force being his father's check book, and instead of arranging to show his power by massacring Chinese as Alexander would have done, he shows it in the modern way by saving the lives of Chinese. The world improves, although it still needs leaders and rulers of the Rockefeller type, not having yet learned to lead or rule itself.

Marshal Foch, who went through the war and its strange diet and hardships without serious injury, says he fears "the battle of American public dinners" and its training.

He need not train—let him imitate Chauncey Depew. He ate something at home, very light and simple, early, then went to the dinner—looked and listened and made his speech. That is what every sensible man does. There are few sensible men.

The human body is fearfully and wonderfully made, as the ancient writer observes. It is also a marvellously tough body. Take it to the burning Equator or to the North Pole, with temperature fifty degrees below zero, the warm blood inside that body stays at the same heat—does not change half a degree.

In a hospital not long ago you might see a man with his head open on both sides and a tube running through to drain it. The tube followed the path of a bullet. The man recovered.

Isaac Green is in a Philadelphia hospital today with his heart stitched in four places and recovering. He was stabbed in the heart twice. All that is nothing compared with the miracle of teaching those born deaf, dumb and blind to speak, understand and enjoy life.

The Irish situation seems to need a Talleyrand, Metternich or Disraeli—somebody able to find words that will make something unpleasant seem smooth and agreeable. Ireland and England are not far apart in the negotiation. England having gone 90 per cent. of the road. What is needed now is to find a phrase that will say what both sides are willing to say and without offending extremists on either side. The great achievement so far has been with De Valera, evidently born a diplomat.

Anything that is absolutely new is valuable news. Therefore you are informed that Bob Karna, a vaudeville performer, has insured the life and health of his trained crow Jacko for $50,000. This highly educated crow juggles with Indian clubs skillfully and catches light celluloid balls that children throw to him.

He helps his owner to earn fifty thousand dollars in a year. Such a crow is fit to be handed down with Alexander's Bucephalus, Zarathustra's Serpent and Poe's Raven and Tennyson's rooks that said "Maud, Maud, Maud."

If the crow insurance story is pure press agent work, even then it's worth publicity.

Prohibition has changed its mind. It says, "You can't make two hundred gallons of wine per year. You can make two hundred gallons of grape juice or other fruit juice."

Suppose you squeeze out two hundred gallons of grape juice, pure, innocent, put it in a barrel and let it alone. Who is responsible, you or the laws of nature, when it turns into something with 8 or 10 per cent. of alcohol?

If a man obeys the law and squeezes grape juice, can he be punished, if by no act of his own the grape juice changes its character? There should be a ruling on that.

Is prohibition trying to "ease up a little" without exactly admitting it?

CABINET MEMBERS CALLED

Governor-General of Ireland Travels on Destroyer to See Lloyd George

Gairloch, Scotland, Sept. 21 (By the Associated Press.)—Viscount Fitzalan, Lord Lieutenant and Governor-General of Ireland, arrived here this morning on board a destroyer. He conferred with Premier Lloyd George.

Beginning tonight or tomorrow a considerable number of cabinet members will meet Lloyd George to discuss the pressing problem of unemployment and the Irish situation.

Sir Alfred Mond, minister of health, and Thomas J. MacNamara, minister of labor, arrived to present their views for a solution of the unemployment problem.

Lord Birkenhead, the Lord High Chancellor, is on the way from Dingwall, Rossshire, and Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, is coming from Inverness.

Civilians Wounded in Ulster Outbreak

Belfast, Sept. 21.—Two civilians were wounded in another outbreak of disorders in this city during the night. Shooting occurred in two districts of the city, but the troubles were quelled by policemen and soldiers. Firing centred in the districts about Bryson and York streets. Armored cars patrolled the streets, while policemen searched houses for arms.

Report De Valera May Make Concessions

By International News Service.

London, Sept. 21.—Reports that Eamon De Valera will make further concessions to Premier Lloyd George led to renewed hope today that an Irish peace conference may be arrangtd. possibly within the next week or ten days.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, has gone to Gairloch, Sco'land, to consult with the Premier. Other members of the Cabinet were in consultation with Lloyd George either personally or by telegraph. It is evident the Premier is marshalling his forces with the view to presenting a solid front to the Sinn Fein. The Premier's health has improved and he is now able to devote his full attention to the Irish peace problem.

While the Irish armistice remains unbroken, two Irish developments have taken place within the past forty-eight hours to inject an element of disquiet into the situation.

1—The declaration of Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster, that Ulster has gone the limit in her concessions for Irish peace.

2—The charge by Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein, that England is evidently attempting "to sell Ireland a gold brick" by imposing conditions prior to peace parley.

OPINION DIVIDED.

De Valera's note of Monday night has had the result of dividing opinion. One faction believes he was sincerely trying to open the way for a peace conference without demanding a republic in advance; another faction accuses him of diplomatic manoeuvring in an effort to impose his republican ambitions upon the country.

The swiftly moving events and the rapid dre exchange of notes between the Premier and De Valera got the minor officials in Downing street,

Boston Man Elected to High Post by Masons

LEON M. ABBOTT

Leon M. Abbott, was today elected Sovereign Grand Commander of the Scottish Rite, 33rd Degree, for a term of three years at the annual meeting of the organization held at the Masonic Temple.

Mr. Abbott has been strongly identified with Freemasonry for many years and has a varied and interesting career in the order.

He was born in Richmond, N. H., on August 28, 1867, the son of Joseph B. Abbott and Lydia G. Martin.

RUMBLINGS UNDER STREET CAUSE ALARM

Hundreds of men and women passing Postoffice square shortly after noon today were alarmed by a tremendous rumbling in three manholes at Milk and Pearl streets. A moment later the cover of one of the manholes and on a nearby water gate were lifted slightly above the pavement and dropped to one side. A still alarm brought high-pressure engine No. 2 and engine No. 26, as well as a Boston Consolidated Gas Company truck and an Edison Electric Light Company truck. There it was found that the trouble was caused by a short circuit in one of the electric company's manholes acting upon a hot air pressure. No damage was done.

FILM PROMOTER FOUND GUILTY IN DEDHAM

Raymond L. Cleveland, former president of the Third National Finance and Film Trust of Dedham, pleaded guilty in Superior Criminal Court at Dedham today on one count charging false advertising. He will be sentenced Monday. Cleveland, whose home is in Medford, started the film concern while he lived in Medford. They took over the Nickerson mansion and estate in Dedham and had been operating for some time before it attracted the attention of the authorities.

HARDING TO ACT ON KU KLUX

Department of Justice Lays Facts in Case Before President

Washington, Sept. 21.—Information in the hands of the Department of Justice as to the activities of the Ku Klux Klan was laid before President Harding today by Attorney General Daugherty, after the latter had conferred with Director Burns of the department's Bureau of Investigation.

By International News Service.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Congressional investigation of the Ku Klux Klan was sought today by Representative Tague of Massachusetts, who introduced a resolution in the House authorizing appointment of a special committee to inquire into the principles, policies and activities of the organizaton.

Attorney-eneral Daugherty has instructed William J. Burns, chief of the Bureau of Investigation, and District Attorney Hayward of New York to study further the Klan question, and he will confer with them again on Saturday.

The attorney-general has suggested that rand Jury investigation of the Klan, either in New York or Atlanta, is probable. It is admitted that the Department of Justice might find some difficulties in bringing criminal action against the Klan under present criminal statutes, but the attorney-general stated it was possible that a rand Jury investigation might show "conspiracy" on the part of Klan leaders.

Representative Tague, who seeks a congressional investigation of the Klan, declared today that he was decide that a special committee of Congress delve thoroughly into the character of the organization and its membership, to learn the sources and amount of its funds, and to ascertain whether it is carrying on a campaign of propaganda and, if so, the nature of the propaganda.

Tague pointed out that the Klan is now making a drive for new members and that in view of the recent disclosures concerning its organization, the public is entitled to the full facts concerning the Klan, which might be established by a congressional inquiry.

Scheme to Gain U. S. Air Control Exposed

The most sensational feature of the amazing expose of the Invisible Empire of the Ku Klux Klan yet revealed in connection in today's article by Mayor C. Anderson Wright, former Grand Goblin and King Kleagle.

Major Wright discloses the plan by which he says Edward Young Clark, Imperial Kleagle and financial head of the Klan, hoped to get $50,000,000 worth of airplanes from the United States government for use by the Invisible Planet, Knights of the Air.

Wright charges Clark declared against accepting them as a gift from the government, and in favor of paying for the rate of 15 per airplane, so that bills of sale could be had.

DRIVEN TO SUICIDE BY GOSSIP

Lundell's Wife Declares Her Enemies Forced Husband to End Life

"My husband died because of worry over the charges made by enemies against me," declared Mrs. Olaf C. G. Lundell today, explaining the suicide of Lundell, who went into the kitchen of his Summer cottage at No. 5 Arcadia street, Revere, closed the windows and turned on the jets of a gas range.

Mother-love led his mother, Mrs Ruth Lundell, to the place where she found the young man's body lying under the range.

"All my life I have known the Lundells and they have known me," explained Mrs. Lundell, junior. "That was why when my first husband died and left me with three small children to look out for I turned to the Lundells.

"Olaf Lundell lost his first wife a little more than a year ago, so we could sympathize with each other, then, too, he had a small child by his first wife.

"Last month enemies started stories about me, and I was summoned to the East Cambridge Court, charged with neglect of my children. Olaf went with me and stood by me all the time. We had been talking of getting married before, but that decided us to hurry, although Olaf's parents wanted him to wait a year. You see although he had been married and was the father of a child, he was only twenty-three years old. They thought him too young to undertake the responsibility for me and my three babies.

"But when I got into this trouble, Olaf insisted that we get married at once. So on September 2, last, the Rev. Mr. Stetson of the Paul street Cambridge, married us.

"The first thing we did was to visit the Cambridge court and get things straightened out, as we thought. Instead the matter was kept on about me, and they worried me and that worried Olaf. Then this came," said the young woman, breaking down.

"There had been no trouble between us, nothing that could have been called a quarrel, no dispute. Olaf was kindness itself to me. I can't imagine why he did this fearful thing."

Lundell's mother believes her son was unbalanced temporarily, because of the sudden load of responsibility he had assumed with his second marriage.

The young man was formerly well known as a wrestler.

BOSTON WITNESSES AID MRS. SAMUEL ELMAN

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Two witnesses from Boston slipped quietly in and out of the city to testify in Samuel Elman's divorce suit against Mrs. Rosie Schenk Elman. They were Abram Donofski, uncle of Mrs. Elman, and Imperial Kleagle and financial head of the Klan, hoped to get $50,000,000 worth of airplanes from the United States government for use by the Invisible Planet, Knights of the Air.

Wright charges Clark declared against accepting them as a gift from the government, and in favor of paying for the rate of $15 per airplane, so that bills of sale could be had.

Mrs. Elman's attorney, Max Lurie, declined to comment on the case. Elman is a wealthy clothing manufacturer.

LOCKER ROOM AT TUFTS OVAL ROBBED

The locker room at Tufts Oval was broken into and robbed during the night, according to a report to the police of Somerville today. Four pairs of football shoes, four footballs and a quantity of other sport equipment, all the property of the football team of the college, was taken. The value of the property was placed at $71.

PEGGY GRACE IS NOT TO WED DOBBINS

Peggy Grace, film star, will not, as reported, marry Robert M. Dobbins, the wealthy Brookline clubman who has just settled out of court her $100,000 breach of promise action against him.

Miss Grace today denied rumors that have been going the rounds to the effect that the settlement was but the preliminary to complete reconciliation and marriage.

These rumors have been put in circulation by friends of the young woman and by friends of Dobbins.

They say that the pair are still very fond of each other, and that their disagreement will ultimately be settled.

Miss Grace and Dobbins were seen together on several occasions while her action and that of her father, Pierce J. Grace, were pending against the Brookline clubman, it is said.

One of these meetings was on the Charles River esplanade, according to a close friend of Miss Grace, and was apparently entirely friendly.

Counsel on both sides are understood to have been angered by these meetings, fearing that they would interfere with the litigation.

Lawyers for Dobbins and the girl took their respective clients to task, but without much effect, it is alleged.

At one time, it is stated, the attorneys for Miss Grace and her father went so far as to threaten to get out an injunction against Dobbins, restraining him from seeing the girl in private. She was at that time a minor.

Shortly after the film actress' celebration of her coming of age she became ill. During that trying time in the Grace household it is understood Dobbins sent her flowers, and when her life seemed to hang in the balance was a watcher at her bedside.

Notwithstanding the speculations of the romantically inclined, Miss Grace today gently but firmly put her foot down on all talk of matrimony and stood on her previous declaration, that she was "going to try to forget all about it and hoped others would do the same."

1,000 KILLED BY EXPLOSION IN GERMANY

By Associated Press.

Paris, Sept. 21.—One thousand persons are reported to have been killed and several thousand others injured at Oppau, near Frankthal, in the Rhine Palatinate, through explosion in a chemical products plant, according to a Mayence message to the Hava Agency received here today.

The town of Oppau itself was destroyed by the explosions, the advices state.

The force of the shocks were felt for a distance of nearly 15 miles around. In Mannheim one person was killed and about fifty others injured.

The region in the Rhine palatinate where today's disastrous explosion occurred was developed during the war into one of the most extensive and productive of Germany's chemical munition supply districts.

Oppau itself is a comparatively small town with only a few thousand population, but nearby are Frankenthal, a considerable larger place, and Ludwigshafen, which has a population of some 75,000 and which during the war was accounted the largest of the German chemical manufacturing plants for war purposes.

The chemical works there are still on a vast scale. It is about seven miles southeast of Mannheimthal and directly across the Rhine from Mannheim.

During the war the region was frequently bombarded by allied air squadrons, Ludwigshafen being their particular target.

RED HAIRED GIRL AIDS SHERMAN TO FLEE

Actor Fools Detectives Waiting at New York by Leaving Train at Harmon

By International News Service.

New York, Sept. 21.—Lowell Sherman, film actor, who is wanted by District Attorney Brady in San Francisco as a witness in the case against "Fatty" Arbuckle, charged with the murder of Virginia Rappe, today successfully eluded the attempt of the local authorities to find him.

A detective and a representative of the district attorney's office met the second section of the Twentieth Century Limited, on which Sherman was supposed to be a passenger, when it arrived at Grand Central terminal today, but Sherman was not aboard.

He had left the train at Harmon, the last stop before New York. Sherman was greeted at Harmon by an auburn-haired young woman, who was waiting in an automobile.

The couple embraced, according to the conductor on the train, and departed in the machine.

Witnesses in Arbuckle Case Begin to Scatter

San Francisco, Sept. 21.—Witnesses in the case against Roscoe C. Arbuckle are evincing a tendency to scatter. Alarmed at the turn of events, District Attorney Brady threatens to bring a criminal charge against Lowell Sherman, movie actor and a participant at the fatal Rotarorgy, and have him arrested and extradited from the East.

District Attorney Brady has wired the police of New York, asking them to learn if Sherman voluntarily will return.

The tendency of witnesses to scatter has been foreshadowed for some days past.

If present developments continue the State will have to build a witness corral and establish a patrol around the fence, or face the possibility that there will be nobody to testify at the famous comedian's trial.

OMITTED VITAL PHRASE.

At the centre of the uneasy situation is the figure of Roy Prevost, and her friend and roommate, Joyce Clark. Both are young women of that indefinite class known as "show girls."

When the case first became notorious, Zey told the police a story so strongly against Arbuckle that it was the main basis for the laying of the murder charge. Here was the statement that Virginia Rappe, lying on the bed in Arbuckle's room, had cried out as she entered:

"I am dying; I am dying; he killed me, he killed me."

Then after the murder charge was brought she refused to tell the grand jury the same story. She left out the last vital phrase. The indictment was only for manslaughter.

Perjury was threatened and she changed her story part way back again, until it corresponded with Alice Blake's "I'm dying, I'm dying; he hurt me, he hurt me."

"Fatty's Fate May Rest on Medical Testimony

San Francisco, Sept. 21.—As preparations were completed today by both state and defence for the preliminary hearing tomorrow afternoon of Roscoe C. "Fatty" Arbuckle, on a charge of having murdered beautiful Virginia Rappe, it became increasingly evident that on medical testimony, may rest the film comedian's fate.

The medical aspects of the case may occupy the entire initial session of the hearing before Police Court Judge Sylvian Lazarus, even witnesses have been summoned for the first session, but it was admitted today that probably not more than three can be heard.

Indications of the emphasis to be laid on the medical evidence were to be found today in announcements from the office of District Attorney Brady that a board of medical advisers would sit at the state's counsel table throughout the preliminary hearing.

At the same time it became known that Judge Lazarus has obtained able medical advice and may have a competent physician sit with him during part of the case.

ATTACK MEDICAL TESTIMONY.

From the defence has come no intimation of their plans, but it is known that a determined attempt will be made to tear down certain evidence offered by physicians at the coroner's inquest is to be made and the report is current today that several professionally known medical experts will testify at the preliminary hearing in an effort to dispose of the charge against the film star at this time.

Delayed by an automobile accident, Dr. Arthur Beardsley, one of the five physicians called to give attention to Virginia Rappe, who was returning from a hunting trip to give testimony, was expected to arrive today.

His testimony was considered vital by the State, inasmuch as his diagnosis and the history of the case under his care have figured largely in the testimony of other physicians.

The State, it is understood, has two surprise witnesses. They are said to be young married women, who attended the party with Mrs. Miss Taube, but did not remain throughout the afternoon.

One of them, however, is understood to have returned during the excitement that followed the sudden illness of Miss Rappe. Their names are being withheld.

MAY BE MRS. PARSONS.

District Attorney Brady is so hopeful also that Mrs. Gladys Parsons, reported found by a detective agency at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, will prove to be the Mrs. May Parsons sought as a witness ever since the death of Miss Rappe.

Federal investigation of the liquor angles of the case will continue next Friday. The Federal Grand Jury last night heard seven witnesses, including several of the guests at the party and hotel employes. The session was merely preliminary.

Special Assistant District Attorney Robert H. McCormack announced, and for the purpose of perpetuating testimony which might not be available later. Indictments will not be returned until the entire investigation here and in Southern California is complete, McCormack added.

Shooting Up "Fatty" Film in Wyoming Publicity Stunt

By Associated Press.

Denver, Col., Sept. 21.—The reported burning of a "Fatty" Arbuckle film by armed cowboys in Thermopolis, Wyoming, last Friday night is a myth, it became known today.

As a result executives of the Film Board of Trade in Colorado and of the Rocky Mountain Screen Club announced they were considering action against F. J. Buzzetti, owner of a theatre of Thermopolis, hom they charge with perpetrating a pernicious publicity stunt.

The arrival of the film in Denver undamaged exposed the alleged burning story as a fake, according to E. H. Cohn, branch manager of the distributor of the film.

GASTON FINDS ENGLAND IS IMPROVING

Most Exciting Things He Saw in Europe Were Hotel Bills and Big Race

New York, Sept. 21.—Business conditions in England are improving in spite of prevailing high prices and the widespread effect of the unsettled Irish situation, according to William A. Gaston, chairman of the board of directors of the National Shawmut Bank of Boston, who returned on the Olympic today.

Mr. Gaston was accompanied by his wife and their children, Miss Hope and Mrs. J. H. Howard, who have been in Europe virtually all Summer.

Mr. Gaston said that he did not have an opportunity to make a detailed study of conditions. The press generally is taking an optimistic view of the business outlook, he said.

"The most exciting things I saw on my trip were the hotel bills, with their high prices, and the winning of the great turf classic, the St. Ledger, by a to 1 shot," he said.

The Boston man added that a lot of racing enthusiasts who could see nothing but the 4 to 1 favorite were "ruined" by the upset.

Mr. Gaston found the Irish question to be the predominating topic of conversation everywhoer he went in England.

The Olympic labored through one of the most terrific mid-ocean storms of the season last Friday and Saturday on her way to port. Waves washed across the decks, battering in portholes, making it extremely dangerous for passengers to venture out of their staterooms for the better port of forty-eight hours. Several passengers were bruised by being slammed against their cabin walls or railings. Mr. Gaston said that he told claim to a big, comfortable chair early in the "blow" and stuck to it until calm seas prevailed again.

WANTS RECEIVER FOR U. S. HOUSING TRUST

Arthur D. Ropes of Wollaston today filed a bill in equity asking that Trustee Frank E. Rae of the United States Housing Trust be directed to ask for the appointment of a receiver, the collections of the assets of the concern and their conversion into cash for the benefit of the creditors. This, he said, was to prevent preferential treatment of certain creditors and to head off a multiplicity of law suits. The original trustees of the trust were recently indicted, and Rae was made general trustee for the benefit of creditors. Ropes today said he believed the liabilities of the trust were $6,000, and that about $5,000 in assets could be collected if steps were taken in time.

ATTORNEY ULMER PLEADS NOT GUILTY

W. Edwin Ulmer of No. 122 University road, Brookline, an attorney, pleaded not guilty in Dedham District Court today to the larceny of raw materials of the Henry Woods Sons Company of Wellesley, valued at $15,000. He acted as his own attorney, and when the case was put over to September 28 complained that the bail of $6,000 was too high.

It is alleged that he sold the materials, which he had previously pledged with the Prudential Trust Company as collateral to secure a loan for the Wood company, of which he was attorney and director.

MOVE TO OUST BROOKLINE PASTOR

Petition for Removal of Rev. Edwin Curtis Reveals Rift in Congregation

A widening rift in the congregation of the Brookline Presbyterian Church over the continuance in office as pastor of the Rev. Edwin Curtis threatens the harmony in the church and may result in the forcing out of Rev. Mr. Curtis.

The turmoil, which is said to have been going on under the surface for months, came to light when a formal petition asking the Boston Presbytery, which has charge of the church, to remove the minister, was filed with the Rev. George W. Warren, stated clerk of the presbytery.

Acting under the rules of the church, Warren submitted the petition to the executive committee at the Fall meeting of the presbytery, but that body has reported that it wishes more time in which to reach a decision.

Neither Warren nor other members of the committee would discuss the nature of the trouble, nor comment upon the petition further than to insist that no charges of misconduct have been preferred against the minister.

Warren admitted that the petition comes from only a section of the congregation. Curtis today declared that there is "a small minority" in the church congregation which wishes to see the last of him.

In this, he added, they are opposed to a majority of the 600 members of the congregation. He intimated that there are "less than fifty members of the church who are making all the trouble."

WARNS AMERICANS TO GET PASSPORTS VISED

Washington, Sept. 21.—Necessity of having consular vises of passports of persons going to France was again called to public attention in a statement today by the State Department. A dispatch from the consular general's office at Havre said Americans are frequently arriving without property vised passports, resulting in much embarrassment and delay to them before being permitted to land.

NEGRESS, 114 YEARS OLD, AND EX-SLAVE, IS DEAD

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 21.—Mrs. Jane Burham, a negress, 114 years old, who was a slave on a Virginia plantation until freed after the Civil War, died yesterday at Alton, Ill., where she had resided for nearly half a century. Two daughters, both octogenarians, Mrs. Martha Jackson, eighty-two years old, of Alton, and Mrs. Betty Hall, eighty-nine, of Bloomington, Ill., survive.

Explosion at South Station Causes Big Scare

Commuters hurrying through the South Station on their way to work or business were startled and all but stampeded today by the explosion of the main compressed air reservoir on an engine on Track 25. The train, which had arrived a few moments before from Woonsocket, R. I., had just been left by its crew.

The interior o the engine was thoroughly wrecked and windows in an unoccupied coach on the next track were shattered by the concussion.

Nobody was injured, but the roar of the explosion was deafening, and for a few minutes the vicinity was a scene of excitement as men and women raced for the open air.

MATERNITY BILL PLEA BEFORE CATHOLICS

Dr. Maguire Tells National Conference Legislation Is Needed

By Associated Press.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 21.—A plea for the Sheppard-Towner bill or other maternity legislation likely to come before Congress was made yesterday by Dr. Walter G. Maguire of Chicago in an address at the Seventh National Conference, Catholic Charities, in session here.

"It is only through education, State control, special inspection and careful supervision of all maternity matters that we can hope to economize lives in this country," said Maguire. "Twenty thousand mothers die annually and over 250,000 child an each year, because of the lack of proper care given to the women at childbirth."

LLOYD GEORGE CONFERS ON IRISH CRISIS

the seat of the Premier's official residence and office, considerably ratified.

Following a report that Lloyd George had made informal inquiry as to whether the Sinn Fein could yield still further, announcement was made here that Lloyd George had dispatched a note to Dublin replying to De Valera's latest communication.

A Dublin telegram quoted Arthur Griffith as saying: "I question if Britain is seeking peace so much as she is trying to sell Ireland a gold brick. If she seeks to impose preliminary conditions, it will be conclusive proof that Premier Lloyd George is trying to impose upon Ireland the same tricks as his predecessors."

"It is not yet clear whether the Irish will consent to negotiate without first insisting upon the status of a sovereign state," said the Daily News, "but if Premier Lloyd George has made it clear that no ultimatum will be sent and that he is still conciliatory."

The Daily Mail declares the Premier has more to gain by a general election than by holding conferences with De Valera.

CONTROL OF AIR SOUGHT

every city and village in the United States.

His plan was plausible and workable, and, in my opinion, would have gone through if I had remained with the organization and the public exposure had not come.

PLANES NOW SPOILING.

The airplanes are those the government bought for training the pilots for the war. They are still in possession of the government, rotting for want of use. It was my idea that they should not be permitted to rust and spoil, but that the thousands of airmen in the country should use them and thus keep in practice in case of trouble with any foreign power.

It was my idea, also, that the government might be willing to allow the airmen the privilege of using landing grounds already established.

But Clark went a step further. He said: "Inasmuch as I am financing the organization of the Invisible Planet, Knights of the Air, it is only fair that when we get these airplanes and landing grounds they should be put in my name."

His demand took my breath away. He added: "Let us not accept these things free of charge. If the government fails for the plan, let us pay $1 apiece for the airplanes, and $1 for each of the landing grounds and whatever else comes into our possession, so we will have bills of sale. You, as Chief of Staff of the Knights of the Air, and I can have an arrange ment by which the Knights of the Air will sign the stuff over to me."

STAGGERED BY PLAN.

His extravagance me. I made a mental calculation of the value of the airplanes. New, they must have cost the government an average of $10,000 apiece. Some of them cost as high as $50,000, while others ran as low as $8,000, my average of $10,000 is, therefore, a low estimate. The 5,000 airplanes would then represent a cost of over $50,000,000 to the government.

All of which Clarke wanted transferred to him personally.

His idea was to make a direct profit from the airplanes renting them to members. As he explained his scheme to me, he figured that, with all the airplanes and landing fields in his personal possession, every man in the country would be only too eager to come into the Knights of the Air, and, that accomplished, Clarke would become a dictator who could not be dethroned because, if the organization ever broke away from him, he would at the same time be leaving all equipment behind.

The landing fields offered the greatest possibilities to Clarke.

He had often boasted to me that he would become the richest man in the world.

If this dream of his had been realized he actually would be, I think, because he would have owned valuable tracts of land in every city and locality in the country.

SOUTH BOSTON TWINS TO BECOME NUNS

The incident is considered remarkable among priests and nuns, as it is rarely that twins both feel the call to the religious life.

The girls are the daughters of Thomas Devine of No. 816 East 5th street, South Boston, and are accomplished musicians. They were members of the same class at St. Eulalia's School, and have often played on only a few occasions.

TWO GET YEAR FOR ATTACKS ON GIRLS

Lawrence, Sept. 21.—Committing on the unusual number of sex cases to be tried before him in Essex Superior Criminal Court here, Judge Louis S. Cox today wondered whether such crimes were due to the war or to a disposition on the part of judges to be "a little too easy." He sentenced Sebastiano Smariglio to one year in the House of Correction for an attack on two ten-year-old girls. Smariglio is the man "shot up" by irate fathers of the girls a week ago. Judge Cox sentenced James H. Lastus to one year in jail for an attack on a girl.

BOSTON FLIERS URGED TO JOIN KU KLUX

Paid No Attention to Request, Says Captain Richmond of Aero Club

Circulars urging reserve aviation officers to join the Knights of the Air, Invisible Planet, in the Ku Klux Klan, were received in Boston, according to Captain Arthur Richmond, treasurer of the Aero Club of Massachusetts, who said today that several months ago he received one.

"I don't recall what the circular did say," said Richmond, "but I remember it came from the Ku Klux Klan at Atlanta. I paid no attention to it and threw it away. I suppose the Klan got hold of a list of reserve officers and sent each of them a circular letter to join.

"I can positively say," declared Richmond, "that the Aero Club of Massachusetts did not join the Klan. Whatever individual members did, I cannot say, but anyone is wrong when he says the club was one of the first to co-operate in this plan."

Former Grand Goblin Wright mentioned "Major" Byrd, Odell as head of the Aero Club, when it was said to have become affiliated with the Klan. Richmond said Osborn was president of the club for a time, but has since resigned. Osborn was not a major, but a second lieutenant, according to Richmond, and he was a minister of the Gospel in Cambridge. Osborn has gone to California.

FALSE REPORT OF DEATH FREES HUSBAND

Shell-Shocked Veteran Finds Wife and Baby Are Dangerously Ill

Federal authorities received word here today that Max Haimovitz's wife is very sick in Springfield, but not dead as reports yesterday indicated. Their baby is dangerously ill.

Haimovitz, a shell-shocked veteran of the Third Division, was being arraigned before Judge Morton in United States District Court, charged with defrauding the government of $700 through the War Risk Insurance Bureau, when a report was received through the East Cambridge jail that the woman was dead.

Judge Morton continued the case and allowed Haimovitz his freedom on his personal recognizance. Court attaches, newspapermen and bystanders took up a collection and sent Max hurrying to his wife.

Edward J. Leyden, deputy United States marshal for the Springfield district, was ordered to investigate the report. Information was received from him today that Max's wife was still alive, but very sick at the home of a friend, Mrs. La France, at No. 310 Belmont avenue, Springfield.

A baby born to Mrs. Haimovitz a few months ago is dangerously ill at a Springfield hospital.

Haimovitz also went by the name of Benjamin Saunders, and it was under this name that his wife and child were located. Max was with his wife today.

MAN, WIFE AND GIRL KILLED WITH CLUB

Another Member of Family, Child of 12, Crushed by Unknown Slayer

By International News Service.

Dowagiac, Mich., Sept. 21.—A blood-stained club, matted with hair, and a single bloody finger print, constitute the clues upon which the authorities are working today in an effort to solve the mysterious murder of William Monroe, 45 years old, his wife, Mary, 42 years old, and their daughter, Neva, 17 years old.

The bodies of the three were found at their home on the outskirts of the city.

Twelve-year-old Ardith Monroe, also badly beaten about the head and in a partial stupor, was found when the bodies of other members of the family were found. Although still in a comatose state, it is thought she may recover.

It is believed that the three members of the Monroe family were murdered Saturday night and that the girl, Ardith, lay for two days in the same bed with her dead parents. Ardith's face was crushed by a blow from the slayer's club.

Early today Dr. George F. Inch, assistant superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane at Kalamazoo, said that two inmates, Louis Bergman and James Morrow, had escaped about a week ago. Dr. Inch said, however, that he did not believe either of them would commit murder.

CHICAGO POLICE CHIEF FIGHTS CONTEMPT CASE

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Chief of Police Fitzmorris is preparing today for a vigorous fight on appeal from the sentence to five days in jail and $100 fine imposed upon him by Judge Joseph David for contempt of court. Judge David found that the chief was in contempt because of statements regarding the case of Carl Wanderer, twice convicted of murder, while an insanity hearing for Wanderer was being held in Judge David's court.

ROXBURY NEGROES HELD AFTER STREET FIGHT

Charged with carrying a loaded revolver, Algernon Mayo, colored, of East Lenox street, was in Roxbury Court today and held in $1,000 bail for hearing next Tuesday. Reuben Watson, also colored, of Kendall street, Roxbury, was arraigned, charged with assault with intent to kill Mayo. He was held in $5,000. Both were arrested following a fight and chase by Patrolman Beckoit.

MAGEE WINS G. O. P. FIGHT IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, Sept. 21.—After one of the bitterest factional fights within the Republican party in this city, former Mayor William A. Magee was today assured of the nomination for mayor by a plurality of about 12,000 as a result of yesterday's primary. The Democrats named William N. McNair for mayor.

MINISTER LEADS NEW SEARCH FOR BRIDE

Rev. Henry Coolidge Indignant at Abandonment of the Dragging Operations

Union, Ct., Sept. 21.—Search for the missing Mrs. Norah Johnson Kettelle, who disappeared mysteriously from her Summer cottage, where she was spending her honeymoon with her husband, John D. Kettelle of Cambridge, took on a new phase today with the return of the Rev. Henry Coolidge, pastor of the Union Congregational Church and confidant of the bride and bridegroom.

Mr. Coolidge, who has been staying for a few days in New Hampshire, announced immediately after his arrival home that he intended to organize a searching party and start dragging Lake Mashapaug for the body of the missing Radcliffe graduate.

He expressed indignation at the attitude of the villagers and Summer residents here toward the case.

RESIDENT DEFENDS COURSE.

His sharp criticism of the sudden stoppage of the search within twenty-four hours after the discovery of Mrs. Kettle's disappearance, however, merely served to bring into the open spokesmen for the local people. One of these who asked that his name be withheld explained the position of his neighbors as follows:

"When a man comes down here and gets into trouble we are willing to go the limit for him. He is welcome to share the last dime we have. In the Kettelle case it was that way at first.

"Immediately after the disappearance of Mrs. Kettelle, the husband told us that he believed his wife had committed suicide. We were willing to do all we could to recover the body, and at once three different parties of five men each started dragging the lake.

TO WATCH FOR BODY.

"Then when on the following day Kettelle switched his story and began to say that his wife had been accidentally drowned, we came to the conclusion that he was holding something back from us and from the authorities, and decided to lay off the whole affair until tomorrow, which will be the ninth day and the day on which, if it is in the lake, the body should come to the surface.

"That is why we are ready to watch the lake carefully all day tomorrow and Friday if necessary."

In the meantime James Early has continued to be the only man to keep up the search for the missing woman, so far as can be learned here.

TWO STRANGERS SOUGHT.

Efforts are being made today to link with the disappearance of Mrs. Kettelle the presence of two well-dressed strangers, who were seen strolling through a vegetable garden on the edge of the woods on the day she vanished. The authorities also would like to find out something about a big touring car with a registration number from another State, seen here on that day.

Of further significance to the mystery case was the statement issued early today by Chief Robert P. Hurley of the State police:

"I believe the matter of search is up to the girl's relatives. In a general way I am only concerned with criminal proceedings. But I am still continuing my investigation."

Kettelle Tells How He Rescued Bride

Details of a struggle to save his young bride from drowning in Lake Mashapaug only four days before she mysteriously disappeared were made public today by John Dunster Kettelle of Cambridge.

Kettelle today began sorrowfully clearing out the little apartment in Cambridge which he had prepared for his Radcliffe bride. She had assisted in the selection of the apartment, but the furniture he had bought was to be a complete surprise to her.

Now, however, those dreams are dissolved and Kettelle is selling the pieces. He remains convinced his wife's body is under the waters of the lake near the shore on which their little cottage was situated.

In speaking of his rescue of his wife from drowning, Kettelle said he and she had swum from Palmer Island to their boat landing. "She was not a strong swimmer," he went on, "and, before she had gone 50 yards, became exhausted and began to sink. I went to her assistance and was forced to tow her to the landing, 200 yards away."

As soon as he can wind up affairs incident to the disappearance of Mrs. Kettelle, the bereaved husband intends to carry out the plans he and she had made for his future. He expects to enter the press room of the University Press and work his way through that and the other departments until he has a good knowledge of the business, just as he and his wife decided he was to do.

Both Kettelle and Professor H. W. Magoun of Harvard said today that nothing has developed to make them change their minds regarding the tragedy.

Boston Woman Democrat Is First to Manage Political Campaign

Gertrude F. Hayes, Vice-Chairman of State Committee, Tells How Women Aid in Giving Party Ranks Unity

By HAZEL CANNING.

Her name is Gertrude F. Hayes—and she is vice chairman of the State Democratic Committee.

She is also the first woman, in the United States, who ever completely managed an entire political campaign.

The campaign she is managing just now is that of Judge Charles I. Pettingell, Democratic candidate for Congress from the Sixth District. And although she is a very little lady, slight and feminine and piquant, great big "pols" move at her bidding, and every Democratic son and daughter of them all pricks up their ears and listen when Miss Hayes begins to speak.

For the lady has ideas and a will of her own. And she wants all good Democratic boys and all good Democratic girls to like each other and keep the peace and work together—like steam engines—to elect their candidate, Judge Pettengill. You should hear the lady on campaigns, and Democrats, and ancient history. Hear her, as she explains, in short, court sentence.

OUGHT TO AGREE.

"The trouble," says she, "with too many Democrats in the past is that they did not want to agree. Now Democrats ought to agree and be good friends together. For if they don't—the Republicans will get them. And the trouble with too many men 'pols' is that they talk too much. There's one thing the Democrats need, one thing that all political parties need, more than words it's deeds. Deeds of sincerity, bold deeds of loyalty and co-operation and party support; also Spartan brevity to go with speaking acquaintance.

"Now, this isn't conceit. For if there's one thing managing a campaign teaches you, it's humility, before goes. A woman, many ways, is quite as fit, if not fitter, to manage a political campaign than a man. And why?

Details are reason. Woman's orderliness, another reason. Age old relationships between men and women, third reason. For instance, here is what I mean by this last.

"Up-town, from the time I was a boy, have been managers of men. Their little boys, on their laps; their bad little boys, across their checkered aprons, they have straightened out and made behave.

"Their grown husbands starting to "pick up" they have also straightened out in ways and manners known to womankind.

TIPS FOR POLITICS.

"Therefore, how fit for the woman who has privately managed the unexplained animal, man, since ever the world began, to take upon herself, now and then, the management of the unexplained animal, man, publicly, in his own particular sphere —the political campaign.'

So, in what I have done to engineer Judge Pettengill's candidacy I have tried, first of all, to keep the wheels of harmony well oiled. Michael A. O'Leary, great Democrat, just back from a year's tour in Europe, before a vote was given them, is speaking the rallies for me.

"Senator David I. Walsh, who hasn't worked such a lot with the Democratic committee, in past years, has telegraphed me a full report. Here's the telegram:

"Will do. Good luck and speak as often and wherever you assign me. Sacrificed enough.

"Oh, it's all harmony among us Democrats, and even such good old Democrats as the party as Eugene Foss, the former governor, has tendered his support. Mr. Foss even spoke at the party campaign for us, and, of course, we are awfully glad to get him. Because, at last we have, in the history of Massachusetts Democracy, all the wings and branches of our party seem to have awakened up to the great idea that nobody ever elected a candidate while he quarrelled among themselves.

WOMEN ARE ORGANIZED.

"Which brings me back to the prospects, and the women. We Democrats have, pretty well scattered over the State, organizations of women. All Summer I have been traveling about, forming these organizations in cities and in towns. So, this Fall, we have speakers and supporters in their places. Now as to our candidates.

"I'm not predicting yet at all. I'm going to wait awhile. Working, from 10 in the morning till I and 5 at night.

Just telephoning, seeing people, spreading propaganda, arranging meetings, criticising little mistakes, planning better tactics, spending ourselves by day on most important detail, childhood which the great machine works noisily, poorly greased.

JUDGED BY RESULTS.

And at night we swing about the circuit, with three or four rousing meetings each evening in cities and towns of the district. We are working now, we hope, and we will be judged by the result we produce.

"And while we work, we remember—good Democrats must remember, always, the value of team work. They must crush down personal prejudices, for the good of the whole. And, also, good Democrats mustn't sling mud.

"For—if any one of my speakers, or any one of my workers, slings mud," Miss Hayes shut her eyes, and then opened them widely—"if they do—I'll tell them what I think about it."

GERTRUDE F. HAYES,
Democratic leader who is the first woman in the United States to completely manage a political campaign.

The portfolio of solicitor-general will be filled later.

An announcement as to when Parliament will dissolve and a general election will be held is expected tomorrow.

50,000 DUPED BY 'GERMAN PONZI'

Founder of "Betting Banks," Now in Bankruptcy Court, Owes 75,000,000 Marks

Berlin, Sept. 21.—A get-rich-quick scheme rivalling that of Charles Ponzi, the Boston money juggler, was revealed today in the bankruptcy proceedings of Karl Koehn, founder of a national series of "betting banks." Koehn promised 100 per cent. dividends. His liabilities are put at 75,000,000 marks and his assets at 5,000,000 marks.

A mob surrounded the Courts Building when the proceedings opened and it required police reserves to prevent a riot. The creditors of the German "Ponzi" were from all walks of life, including clergymen, professional men, soldiers, down-and-out financiers and laborers.

There were many women among the 50,000 creditors, including many of broken down noble families.

Koehn drew more than 25,000,000 marks for his personal expenses. Following the collapse of his "banknical system," detectives dug up the garden of Koehn's home and found documents which threw light upon his dealings. The bookkeeping system was so intricate and enormous that expert accountants say it will take them a year to unravel it, and to straighten out the exact sums that Koehn owes.

The books, so far as they have been examined, show that Koehn's receipts in May, June and July were 50,000,000 marks. His concern won 5,500,000 marks and lost 9,500,000 marks.

WRECKAGE OF U. S. BALLOON FOUND AT SEA

London, Sept. 21.—The British cruiser Trobin reported to the Admiralty today that she had return to Kingstown with the wreckage of an American balloon labelled "U. S. A. No. 1." It had been picked up in St. George's channel. The balloon was an American entry in the race for the James Gordon Bennett trophy, named "The City of Akron." It was pilot by Wade T. Van Arsdale. The pilot landed near Exeter, near the Devon coast, on Monday, and the balloon was blown out to sea. The James Gordon Bennett trophy was won by a Swiss aeronaut.

CAUGHT AT GUN POINT ROBBING DRUG STORE

Charles Davis, thirty years old, of Hemenway street, Back Bay, was in Roxbury Court today, charged with breaking and entering the drug store of Anthony Ziegal, No. 93 Westland avenue, and stealing a quantity of cigars and liquor. He was arrested at the point of a revolver by Patrolman Grindley of the Back Bay station. He has been sent to guard the store following a series of raids which cost Ziegal more than $2,500.

STORM WARNINGS ARE ORDERED FOR COAST

Washington, Sept. 21. — Storm warnings were ordered hoisted this morning from Delaware breakwater to Eastport, Me., following announcement by the weather bureau that a storm of marked intensity, central near Lake Superior, was moving eastward. The storm, it was announced, will be attended by increasing southerly winds and probably gales during the next 36 hours.

CONVICT RELEASED TO FACE OTHER CHARGES

Stanley O. Cook of Massachusetts avenue, was taken from Concord Reformatory on a writ of habeas corpus today to Roxbury Court on a number of serious charges. He pleaded guilty to the theft of $56 from his aunt, Mrs. E. F. Hubbard, and the case was filed. Arraigned on the charge, he was one of evading a taxi bill of $28.

ANOTHER KILLING IN NEW YORK GANG WAR

New York, Sept. 21.—Gang life claimed another victim on New York's lawless East Side today. Hyman Kellman, twenty years old, held responsible by the friends of Johnny Spanish, noted gangster, for the latter's murder a year ago, was shot dead while walking along the street with his sweetheart and brother.

District Attorney Brady has wired the police of New York, asking them to learn if Sherman voluntarily will return.

The tendency of witnesses to scatter has been foreshadowed for some days past.

If present developments continue the State will have to build a witness corral and establish a patrol around the fence, or face the possibility that there will be nobody to testify at the famous comedian's trial.

OMITTED VITAL PHRASE.

At the centre of the uneasy situation is the figure of Ray Prevost, and her friend and roommate, Joyce Clark. Both are young women of that indefinite class known as "show girls."

When the case first became notorious, Zey told the police a story so strongly against Arbuckle that it was the main basis for the laying of the murder charge. Here was the statement that Virginia Rappe, lying on the bed in Arbuckle's room, had cried out as she entered:

"I am dying, I am dying; he killed me, he killed me."

Then after the murder charge was brought she refused to tell the grand jury the same story. She left out the last vital phrase. The indictment was only for manslaughter.

Perjury was threatened and she changed her story part way back again, until it corresponded with Alice Blake's "I'm dying, I'm dying; he hurt me, he hurt me."

"Fatty's Fate May Rest on Medical Testimony

San Francisco, Sept. 21.—As preparations were completed today by both state and defence for the preliminary hearing tomorrow afternoon of Roscoe C. "Fatty" Arbuckle on a charge of having murdered beautiful Virginia Rappe, it became increasingly evident that on medical testimony, may rest the film comedian's fate.

The medical aspects of the case may occupy the entire initial session of the hearing before Police Court Judge Sylvain Lazarus. Seven witnesses have been summoned for the first session, but it was admitted today that probably not more that three can be heard.

Indications of the emphasis to be laid on the medical evidence were to be found today in announcement from the office of District Attorney Brady that a board of medical advisers would sit at the state's counsel table throughout the preliminary hearing.

At the same time it became known that Judge Lazarus has obtained able medical advice and may have a prominent physician sit with him during part of the case.

ATTACKS MEDICAL TESTIMONY.

From the defence has come no intimation of their plans, but it is known that a determined attempt will be made to discredit certain evidence offered by physicians at the coroner's inquest to be made and the report was current today that several nationally known medical experts may testify at the preliminary hearing in an effort to dispose of the charge against the film star at this time.

Delayed by an automobile accident, Dr. Arthur Beardsley, one of the five physicians called to give attention to Virginia Rappe, who was returning from a hunting trip to give testimony, was expected to arrive today.

His testimony was considered vital by the State, inasmuch as his diagnosis and the history of the case under his care have figured largely in the testimony of other physicians.

The State, it is understood, has two surprise witnesses. They are said to be young married women, who attended the party with Mrs. Mae Taube, but did not remain throughout the afternoon.

One of them, however, is understood to have returned during the excitement that followed the sudden illness of Miss Rappe. Their names are being withheld.

MAY BE MRS. PARSONS.

District Attorney Brady is so hopeful also that Mrs. Gladys Parsons, reported found by a detective agency at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, will prove to be the Mrs. May Parsons sought as a witness ever since the death of Miss Rappe.

Federal investigation of the liquor angles of the case will continue next Friday. The Federal Grand Jury last night heard seven witnesses, including several of the guests at the party and hotel employes. The session was merely preliminary.

Special Assistant District Attorney Robert H. McCormack announced, and for the purpose of perpetuating testimony which might not be available later. Indictments will not be returned until the entire investigation here and in Southern California is complete, McCormack added.

Shooting Up "Fatty" Film in Wyoming Publicity Stunt

By Associated Press.

Denver, Col., Sept. 21.—The reported burning of a "Fatty" Arbuckle film by armed cowboys in Thermopolis, Wyoming, last Friday night is a myth, it became known today.

As a result executives of the Film Board of Trade in Colorado and of the Rocky Mountain Screen Club announced they were considering action against F. J. Buszett, owner of a theatre of Thermopolis, hom they charge with perpetrating a pernicious publicity stunt.

The arrival of the film in Denver undamased exposed the alleged burning story as a fake, according to E. H. Cohn, branch manager of the distributor of the film.

GASTON FINDS ENGLAND IS IMPROVING

Most Exciting Things He Saw in Europe Were Hotel Bills and Big Race

New York, Sept. 21.—Business conditions in England are improving in spite of prevailing high prices and the widespread effect of the unsettled Irish situation, according to William A. Gaston, chairman of the board of directors of the National Shawmut Bank of Boston, who returned on the Olympic today.

Mr. Gaston was accompanied by his wife and their two children, Miss Hope and Alden H. Howard, who have been in Europe virtually all Summer.

Mr. Gaston said that he did not have an opportunity to make a detailed study of conditions. The press generally is taking an optimistic view of the business outlook, he said.

"The most exciting things I saw on my trip were the hotel bills, with their high prices, and the winning of the great turf classic, the St. Ledger, by a 10 to 1 shot," he said.

The Boston man added that a lot of racing enthusiasts who could see nothing but the 4 to 1 favorite were "ruined" by the upset.

Mr. Gaston found the Irish question to be the predominating topic of conversation everywhere he went in England. The Olympic labored through one of the most terrific mid-ocean storms of the season last Friday and Saturday on her way to port. Waves washed across the decks, battering in portholes, making it extremely dangerous for passengers to venture out of their staterooms for the better port of forty-eight hours. Several passengers were bruised by being slammed against their cabin walls or railings. Mr. Gaston said that he laid claim to a big, comfortable chair early in the "blow" and stuck to it until calm seas prevailed again.

WANTS RECEIVER FOR U. S. HOUSING TRUST

Arthur D. Ropes of Wollaston today filed a bill in equity asking that Trustee Frank E. Rae of the United States Housing Trust be directed to ask for the appointment of a receiver, the collections of the assets of the concern and their conversion into cash for the benefit of the creditors. This, he said, was to prevent preferential treatment of certain creditors and to head off a multiplicity of law suits. The original trustees of the trust were recently indicted, and Rae was made general trustee for the benefit of creditors. Ropes today said he believed the liabilities of the trust were $5,000, and that about $5,000 in assets could be collected if steps were taken in time.

MOVE TO OUST BROOKLINE PASTOR

A widening rift in the congregation of the Brookline Presbyterian Church over the continuance in office as pastor of the Rev. Edwin Curtis threatens the harmony in the church and may result in the forcing out of Rev. Mr. Curtis.

The turmoil, which is said to have been going on under the surface for months, came to light when a formal petition asking the Boston Presbytery, which has charge of the church, to remove the minister, was filed with the Rev. George W. Warren, stated clerk of the presbytery.

Acting under the rules of the church, Warren submitted the petition to the executive committee at the Fall meeting of the presbytery, but that body has reported that it wishes more time in which to reach a decision.

Neither Warren nor other members of the committee would discuss the nature of the trouble, nor comment upon the petition further than to insist that no charges of misconduct have been preferred against the minister.

Warren admitted that the petition comes from only a section of the congregation. Curtis today declared that there is "a small minority" in the church congregation which wishes to see the last of him.

In this, he added, they are opposed to a majority of the 600 members of the congregation. He intimated that there are "less than fifty members of the church who are making all the trouble."

WARNS AMERICANS TO GET PASSPORTS VISED

Washington, Sept. 21.—Necessity of having consular vises of passports of persons going to France was again called to public attention in a statement today by the State Department. A dispatch from the consulate general's office at Havre said Americans are frequently arriving without properly vised passports, resulting in much embarrassment and delay to them before being permitted to land.

NEGRESS, 114 YEARS OLD, AND EX-SLAVE, IS DEAD

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 21.—Mrs. Jane Buriam, a negress, 114 years old, who was a slave on a Virginia plantation until freed after the Civil War, died yesterday at Alton, Ill., where she had resided for nearly half a century. Two daughters, both octogenarians, Mrs. Martha Jackson, eighty-two years old, of Alton, and Mrs. Betty Hall, eighty-nine, of Bloomington, Ill., survive.

Explosion at South Station Causes Big Scare

Commuters hurrying through the South Station on their way to work or business were startled and all but stampeded today by the explosion of the main compressed air reservoir on an engine on Track 25. The train, which had arrived a few moments before from Woonsocket, R. I., had just been left by its crew.

The interior of the engine was thoroughly wrecked and windows in an unoccupied coach on the next track were shattered by the concussion.

Nobody was injured, but the roar of the explosion was deafening, and for a few minutes the vicinity was a scene of excitement as men and women raced for the open air.

Following a report that Lloyd George had made informal inquiry as to whether the Sinn Fein could yield still further, announcement was made here that Lloyd George had dispatched a note to Dublin replying to De Valera's latest communication.

A Dublin telegram quoted Arthur Griffith as saying: "I question if Britain is seeking peace so much as she is trying to sell Ireland a gold brick. If she seeks to impose preliminary conditions, it will be conclusive proof that Premier Lloyd George is trying to impose upon Ireland the same tricks as his predecessors."

"It is not yet clear whether the Irish will consent to negotiate without first insisting upon the status of a sovereign state," said the Daily News, "but Premier Lloyd George has made it clear that no ultimatum will be sent and that he is still conciliatory."

The Daily Mail declares the Premier has more to gain by a general election than by holding conferences with De Valera.

MATERNITY BILL PLEA BEFORE CATHOLICS

Dr. Maguire Tells National Conference Legislation Is Needed

By Associated Press.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 21.—A plea for the Sheppard-Towner bill or other maternity legislation likely to come before Congress was made yesterday by Dr. Walter G. Maguire of Colorado in an address at the Seventh National Conference, Catholic Charities, in session here.

"It is only through education, State control, special inspection and careful supervision of all maternity matters that we can hope to economize lives in this country," said Maguire. "Twenty thousand mothers die annually and over 250,000 children each year, because of the lack of proper care given to the women at childbirth."

every city and village in the United States.

His plan was plausible and workable, and, in my opinion, would have gone through if I had remained in the organization and the public exposure had not come.

PLANES NOW SPOILING.

The airplanes are those the government bought for training the pilots for the war. They are still in possession of the government, rotting for want of use. It was my idea that they should not be permitted to rust and spoil, but that the thousands of airmen in the country should use them and thus keep in practice in case of trouble with any foreign power.

It was my idea, also, that the government might be willing to allow the airmen the privilege of using landing grounds already established.

But Clark went a step further. He said: "Inasmuch as I am financing the organization of the Invisible Planet, Knights of the Air, it is only fair that when we get these airplanes and landing grounds they should be put in my name."

His demand took my breath away. He added: "Let us not accept these things free of charge. If the government fails for the plan, let us pay $1 apiece for the airplanes, and $1 for each of the landing grounds and whatever else comes into our possession, so we will have bills of sale. You, as Chief of Staff of the Knights of the Air, will find I can have an arrangement by which the Knights of the Air will sign the stuff over to me."

STAGGERED BY PLAN.

His plan staggered me. I made a mental calculation of the value of the airplanes. Now, they must have cost the government an average of $10,000 apiece. Some of them cost as high as $60,000, while others ran as low as $8,000, my average of $10,000 is, therefore, a low estimate. This 5,000 airplanes would then represent a cost of over $50,000,000 to the government.

All of which Clarke wanted transferred to him personally.

His idea was to make a direct profit from the airplanes renting them to members. As he outlined his scheme to me, he figured that, with all the airplanes and landing fields in his personal possession, every airman in the country would be only too eager to come into the Knights of the Air, and, that accomplished, Clarke would become a dictator who could not be dethroned, because, if the organization ever broke away from him, he would at the same time be leaving all equipment behind.

The landing fields offered the greatest possibility to him.

He had often boasted to me that he would become the richest man in the world.

If this dream of his had been realized he actually would have been, because he would have owned valuable tracts of land in every city and locality in the country.

SOUTH BOSTON TWINS TO BECOME NUNS

The incident is considered remarkable among priests and nuns, as it is rarely that twins both feel the call to the religious life.

The girls are the daughters of Thomas Devine of No. 816 East 5th street, South Boston, and are accomplished musicians. They were members of the same class at St. Eulalia's School, and have been separated on only a few occasions.

TWO GET YEAR FOR ATTACKS ON GIRLS

Lawrence, Sept. 21.—Commenting on the unusual number of sex cases to be tried before him in Essex Superior Criminal Court here, Judge Louis S. Cox today wondered whether such crimes were due to the war or to a disposition on the part of judges to be "a little too easy." He sentenced Sebastiano Smariglio to one year in the House of Correction for an attack on two ten-year-old girls. Smariglio is the man "shot up" by brave fathers of the girls a week ago. Judge Cox sentenced James H. Lantus to one year in jail for an attack on a girl.

BOSTON FLIERS URGED TO JOIN KU KLUX

Paid No Attention to Request, Says Captain Richmond of Aero Club

Circulars urging reserve aviation officers to join the Knights of the Air, Invisible Planet, in the Ku Klux Klan, were received in Boston, according to Captain Arthur Richmond, treasurer of the Aero Club of Massachusetts, who says today that several months ago he received one.

"I don't recall what the circular did say," said Richmond, "but I remember it came from the Ku Klux Klan at Atlanta. I paid no attention to it and threw it away. I suppose the Klan got hold of a list of reserve officers and sent each of them a circular letter to join.

"I can positively say," declared Richmond, "that the Aero Club of Massachusetts did not join the Klan. Whatever individual members did, I cannot say, but upon the whole I believe he says our club was one of the first to co-operate in this plan."

Former Grand Goblin Wright mentioned "Major" Byrle J. Osborn as head of the Aero Club, when it was said to have become affiliated with the Klan. Richmond said Osborn was president of the club for a time, but has since resigned. Osborn was not a major, but a second lieutenant, according to Richmond, and he was a minister of the Gospel in Cambridge. Osborn has gone to California.

FALSE REPORT OF DEATH FREES HUSBAND

Shell-Shocked Veteran Finds Wife and Baby Are Dangerously Ill

Federal authorities received word here today that Max Haimovitz's wife is very sick in Springfield, but not dead as reports yesterday indicated. Their baby is dangerously ill.

Haimovitz, a shell-shocked veteran of the Third Division, was being arraigned before Judge Morton in United States District Court, charged with defrauding the government of $700 through the War Risk Insurance Bureau, when a report was received through the East Cambridge jail that the woman was dead.

Judge Morton continued the case and allowed Haimovitz his freedom on his personal recognizance. Court attaches, newspapermen and bystanders took up a collection and sent Max hurrying to his wife.

Edward J. Lydon, deputy United States marshal for the Springfield district, was ordered to investigate the report. Information was received from him today that Max's wife was still alive, but very sick at the home of a friend, Mrs. La France, at No. 370 Belmont avenue, Springfield.

A baby born to Mrs. Haimovitz a few months ago is dangerously ill at a Springfield hospital.

Haimovitz also went by the name of Benjamin Saunders, and it was under this name that his wife and child were located. Max was with his wife today.

MAN, WIFE AND GIRL KILLED WITH CLUB

Another Member of Family, Child of 12, Crushed by Unknown Slayer

By International News Service.

Dowagiac, Mich., Sept. 21.—A bloodstained club, matted with hair, and a single bloody finger print, constitute the clues upon which the authorities are working today in an effort to solve the mysterious murder of William Monroe, 45 years old, his wife, Mary, 42 years old, and their daughter, Neva, 17 years old.

The bodies of the three were found at their home on the outskirts of the city.

Twelve-year-old Ardith Monroe, also badly beaten about the head and in a partial stupor, was alive when the bodies of other members of the family were found. Although still in a comatose state, it is thought she may recover.

It is believed that the three members of the Monroe family were murdered Saturday night and that the girl, Ardith, lay for two days in the same bed with her dead parents. Ardith's face was crushed by a blow from the slayer's club.

Early today Dr. George F. Inch, assistant superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane at Kalamazoo, said that two inmates, Louis Bergman and James Morrow, had escaped about a week ago. Dr. Inch said, however, that he did not believe either of them would commit murder.

Kettelle Tells How He Rescued Bride

Details of a struggle to save his young bride from drowning in Lake Mashapaug only four days before she mysteriously disappeared were made public today by John Dunster Kettelle of Cambridge.

Kettelle began sorrowfully clearing out the little apartment in Cambridge which he had prepared for his Radcliffe bride. She had assisted in the selection of the apartment, but the furniture he had bought was to be a complete surprise to her.

Suddenly, however, those dreams are discarded and Kettelle is selling the pieces. He remains convinced his wife lost her life under the waters of the lake on the shore of which their little cottage was situated.

Kettelle's story of his rescue of his wife from drowning, Kettelle said he and she had swum from Putnam Island to their boat landing. "She was not a strong swimmer," he went on, "and, before she had gone 100 yards, became exhausted and began to sink. I went to her assistance and was forced to tow her to the landing, 200 yards away."

As soon as he can wind up affairs incident to the disappearance of Mrs. Kettelle, the bereaved husband intends to carry out the plans he and she had made for his future. He expects to enter the press room of the University Press and work his way through that and the other departments until he has a good knowledge of the business, just as he and his wife decided he was to do.

Both Kettelle and Professor H. W. Magoun of Harvard said today that nothing has developed to make them change their minds regarding the tragedy.

CHICAGO POLICE CHIEF FIGHTS CONTEMPT CASE

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Chief of Police Fitzmorris is preparing today for a vigorous fight on appeal from the sentence to five days in jail and $100 fine passed upon him by Judge Joseph David for contempt of court. Judge David found that the chief was in contempt because of statements regarding the case of Carl Wanderer, twice convicted of murder while an insanity hearing for Wanderer was being held in Judge David's court.

ROXBURY NEGROES HELD AFTER STREET FIGHT

Charged with carrying a loaded revolver, Algernon Mayo, colored, of Elm Lenox street, was in Roxbury Court today and held in $1,000 bail for hearing next Tuesday. Reuben Watson, also colored, of Kendall street, Roxbury, was arraigned, charged with assault with intent to kill Mayo. He was held in $5,000. Both were arrested following a fight and chase by Patrolman Beckett.

MAGEE WINS G. O. P. FIGHT IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, Sept. 21.—After one of the bitterest factional fights within the Republican Party in this city, former Mayor William A. Magee was today assured of the nomination for mayor by a plurality of about 15,000 as a result of yesterday's primary. The Democrats named William N. McNair for mayor.

ANOTHER GERMAN LINE TO SOUTH AMERICA

Bremen, Sept. 21.—The North German Lloyd Line has inaugurated a second freight line service to South America, with the steamer Westphalen of 8,400 tons, which sailed yesterday for Rio Janeiro and Buenos Aires. The next sailing will be of the steamer Holstein October 18.

MINISTER LEADS NEW SEARCH FOR BRIDE

Rev. Henry Coolidge Indignant at Abandonment of the Dragging Operations

Union, Ct., Sept. 21.—Search for the missing Mrs. Norah Johnson Kettelle, who disappeared mysteriously from her Summer cottage, where she was spending her honeymoon with her husband, John D. Kettelle of Cambridge, took on a new phase today with the return of the Rev. Henry Coolidge, pastor of the Union Congregational Church and confidant of the bride and bridegroom.

Mr. Coolidge, who has been staying for a few days in New Hampshire, announced immediately after his arrival home that he intended to organize a searching party and start dragging Lake Mashapaug for the body of the missing Radcliffe graduate.

He expressed indignation at the attitude of the villagers and Summer residents here toward the case.

RESIDENT DEFENDS COURSE.

His sharp criticism of the sudden stoppage of the search within twenty-four hours after the discovery of Mrs. Kettle's disappearance, however, merely served to bring into the open spokesmen for the local people. One of these who asked that his name be withheld explained the position of his neighbors as follows:

"When a man comes down here and gets into trouble we are willing to go the limit for him. He is welcome to share the best dime we have. In this Kettelle case it was that way at first.

"Immediately after the disappearance of Mrs. Kettelle, the husband told us that he believed his wife had committed suicide. We were willing to do all we could to recover the body, and at once three different parties of five men each started dragging the lake.

TO WATCH FOR BODY.

"But when on the following day Kettelle switched his story and began to say that his wife had been accidentally drowned, we came to the conclusion that he was holding something back from us and from the authorities, and decided to lay off the whole affair until tomorrow, which will be the ninth day and the day on which, if it is in the lake, the body should come to the surface.

"As early as we are ready to watch the lake carefully all day tomorrow and Friday if necessary."

In the meantime James Early has continued to be the only man to keep up the search for the missing woman, so far as can be learned here.

TWO STRANGERS SOUGHT.

Efforts are being made today to link with the disappearance of Mrs. Kettelle the presences of two well dressed strangers, who were seen strolling through a vegetable garden on the edge of the woods on the day she vanished. The authorities also would like to find out something about a big touring car with a registration number from another State, seen here on that day.

Of further significance to the mystery case was this statement issued early today by Chief Robert P. Harley of the State police:

"While the matter of search is up to the girl's relatives. In a general way I am only concerned with criminal proceedings. But I am still continuing my investigation."

Boston Woman Democrat Is First to Manage Political Campaign

Gertrude F. Hayes, Vice-Chairman of State Committee, Tells How Women Aid in Giving Party Ranks Unity

By HAZEL CANNING.

Her name is Gertrude F. Hayes—and she is vice chairman of the State Democratic Committee.

She is also the first woman, in the United States, who ever completely managed an entire political campaign.

The campaign she is managing just now is that of Judge Charles I. Pettingell, Democratic candidate for Congress from the Sixth District. And although she is a very little lady, slight and feminine and piquant, great big "pols" move at her bidding, and every Democratic son and daughter of them all prick up their ears and listen when Miss Hayes begins to speak.

For the lady has ideas and a will of her own. And she wants all good Democratic boys and all good Democratic girls to like each other and keep the peace and work together—like steam engines—to elect their candidate, Judge Pettengill. You should hear the lady on campaigns, and Democrats, and ancient history. Hear her, as she explains, in short, curt sentences.

OUGHT TO AGREE.

"The trouble," says she, "with too many Democrats in the past is that they did not want to agree. Now Democrats ought to agree and be good friends together. For if they don't—the Republicans will get them. And the trouble with too many men 'pols' is that they talk too much. If there's one thing the Democrats need, one thing that all political parties need, more than words it's deeds. Deeds of sincerity, bold deeds of loyalty and co-operation and party support; also Spartan brevity to go with speaking actions.

"Now, this isn't conceit. For if there's one thing managing a campaign teaches you, it's humility. So here goes. A woman, many ways, is quite as fit, if not fitter, to manage a political campaign than a man. And why?

"Well, one reason. Woman's orderliness, another reason. Age old relationships between men and women, third reason. For instance, here is what I mean by this last.

"Women, from the stone age, have been managers of men. Their little boys, on their laps; their bad little boys, across their unexcited aprons. They have straightened out and made behave.

"Their grown husbands starting to "kick up" they have also straightened out. Their good manners known to womankind.

FIT FOR POLITICS.

"Therefore, how fit for the woman who has privately managed the unexplained animal, man, since ever the world began, to take upon herself, now and then, the management of the unexplained animal, man, publicly, in his own particular sphere—the political campaign.

"So, in what I have done to engineer Judge Pettengill's candidacy I have tried, first of all, to keep the wheels of harmony well oiled. Michael J. Geary, great Democrat, just and generous to women before ever a vote was given them, is managing the rallies for me.

"Senator David I. Walsh, who has always been such a lot with the State Democratic committee, for years, has telegraphed me his support. Here's the telegram:

"'Be in Boston Saturday, and speak as often and wherever you assign me. Entirely willing to campaign for us, and, of course, we are awfully glad to help him. Because, at last again, in the history of Massachusetts Democracy, all the wings and branches of our party seem to have awakened up to a grand idea that nobody ever elected a candidate while they squabbled among themselves.

WOMEN ARE ORGANIZED.

"Which brings me back to the prospects, and the women. We Democrats have, pretty well scattered over the State, organizations of women. All Summer I have been travelling about, forming these organizations in cities and in towns. So, this Fall, we have speakers and support from these places. Now as to our candidates.

"I'm not predicting yet at all. I'm sure all—are just working. Working from 10 in the morning till 1 and 2 at night.

"Just telephoning, seeing people, spreading propaganda, arranging meetings, criticising little mistakes, planning better tactics, spending ourselves by day on most important detail, without which the great machine works noisily, poorly greased.

JUDGED BY RESULTS.

"And at night we swing about the circuit, with three or four or five meetings each evening in cities and towns of the district. We are working now, we hope, and we will be judged by the results we produce.

"And while we work, we remember—good Democrats must remember, always, the value of team work. They must crush down personal prejudices, for the good of the whole. And, also, good Democrats mustn't sling mud.

"For—if any one of my speakers, or any one of my workers, slings mud," Miss Hayes shut her eyes, and then opened them widely—"if they do—I'll tell them what I think about it."

GERTRUDE F. HAYES,

50,000 DUPED BY 'GERMAN PONZI'

Founder of "Betting Banks," Now in Bankruptcy Court, Owes 75,000,000 Marks

Berlin, Sept. 21.—A get-rich-quick scheme rivalling that of Charles Ponzi, the Boston money juggler, was revealed today in the bankruptcy proceedings of Karl Koehn, founder of a national series of "betting banks." Koehn promised 100 per cent. dividends. His liabilities are put at 75,000,000 marks and his assets at 6,000,000 marks.

A mob surrounded the Courts Building when the proceedings opened and it required police reserves to prevent a riot. The creditors of the German "Ponzi" were from all walks of life, including clergymen, professional men, soldiers, down-and-out financiers and laborers.

There were many women among the 50,000 creditors, including many of broken down noble families.

Koehn drew more than 25,000,000 marks for his personal expenses. Following the collapse of his "banking system," detectives dug up the garden of Koehn's home and found documents which threw light upon his dealings. The bookkeeping system was so intricate and enormous that expert accountants say it will take them a year to unravel it, and to straighten out the exact sums that Koehn owes.

The books, so far as they have been examined, show that Koehn's receipts in May, June and July were 50,000,000 marks. His concern won 5,000,000 marks and lost 9,000,000 marks.

WRECKAGE OF U. S. BALLOON FOUND AT SEA

London, Sept. 21.—The British cruiser Urchin reported to the Admiralty today that she had return to Kingstown with the wreckage of an American balloon labelled "U. S. A. No. 10." It had been picked up in St. George's channel. The balloon was an American entry in the race for the James Gordon Bennett trophy, named "The City of Akron." It was pilot by Wade T. Van Orman. The pilot landed near Exeter, near the Devon coast, on Monday, and the balloon was blown out to sea. The James Gordon Bennett trophy was won by a Swiss aeronaut.

CAUGHT AT GUN POINT ROBBING DRUG STORE

Charles Davis, thirty years old, of Hemenway street, Back Bay, was in Roxbury Court today, charged with breaking and entering the Drug store of Anthony Ziegal, No. 99 Westland avenue, and stealing a quantity of cigars and liquor. He was arrested at the point of a revolver by Patrolman Gridley of the Back Bay station, who had been sent to guard the store following a series of thefts which cost Ziegal more than $2,000.

STORM WARNINGS ARE ORDERED FOR COAST

Washington, Sept. 21. — Storm warnings were ordered hoisted this morning from Delaware breakwater to Eastport, Me., following announcement by the weather bureau that a storm of marked intensity central near Lake Superior, was moving eastward. The storm, it was announced, will be attended by increasing southerly winds and probably gales during the next 24 hours.

CONVICT RELEASED TO FACE OTHER CHARGES

Stanley O. Cook of Massachusetts prison, was taken from Concord Reformatory on a writ of habeas corpus today to Roxbury Court on a number of serious charges. He pleaded guilty to the theft of $56 from his aunt, Mrs. E. P. Hubbard, and the case was filed. Among the other complaints was one of evading a taxi bill of $28.

ANOTHER KILLING IN NEW YORK GANG WAR

New York, Sept. 21.—Gang life claimed another victim on New York's lower East Side today. Joseph Kellman, twenty years old, held responsible by the friends of Johnny Spanish, noted gang leader, for the latter's murder a year ago, was shot dead while walking along the street with his sweetheart and brother.

CHAPLIN RAPPED AS WAR SLACKER BY PARIS PRESS

Paris, Sept. 21.—Charlie Chaplin has found a new way to avoid crowds. He wants to see all the newspaper men, but whines to keep away from the crowds, so he meets the writers in the elevator at his hotel. He keeps the elevator running up and down while he chats with the correspondents. According to Le Matin, "If Chaplin was French he would be ignored entirely because he did not do his bit in the war. His government claims his films as propaganda, was more valuable than the putting him in the trenches.

WOMAN HELD IN QUEER MARITAL TANGLE

Arrest Reveals Dual Romance and Double Wedding of Oxford Wife

Webster, Sept. 21.—The strange story of a dual romance and a double wedding in which two men and one woman figured, came to light here when Rebecca E. Voyce, known and highly respected as a resident of Oxford for fourteen years, was arraigned on a charge of polygamy and held in $500 bail for the Superior Court.

After her bond had been supplied by Selectman Charles N. Turner of Oxford she left the court room leaving and chatting with Turner, George K. Voyce and Elmer E. Eager. She is said to have been married to both of the two last named.

Voyce, who lives in Framingham, denied that he had filed the complaint which resulted in the arrest of the woman, and said that as she had lived as the faithful wife of Eager, all he wanted was a formal divorce so as to straighten out the legal tangle.

Eager was in court as a witness and Voyce attended merely as a witness. It developed at the hearing that the woman had become the wife of Voyce in Westboro October 27, 1906, and had married Eager in Oxford on October 29 the following year.

Mrs. Voyce was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Osborn following the filing of a complaint against her. The case first came to the attention of the authorities when Voyce filed a suit for divorce against her, charging desertion.

HAND GRENADE TOSSED INTO WORCESTER LAKE

Worcester, Sept. 21.—A hand grenade of potent possibilities is resting safely today at the bottom of Lake Quinsigamond and officers at police headquarters are breathing easily. A citizen walked in with the grenade and calmly announced he had found it in a vacant tenement in the dwelling in which he lived. A police officer took the grenade and threw it into the lake.

Salisbury Runaway Kills Boy

Salisbury, Sept. 21.—Daniel Kelleher, fourteen years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kelleher, of this town, was instantly killed when the pair of horses attached to a hay wagon became frightened and bolted, striking a telegraph pole and throwing Kelleher to the ground.

Cummings Appointed A. O. H. Chairman of Irish History

The appointment of Matthew Cummings as Chairman of Irish History by the State President of the A. O. H., Patrick J. O'Dowd, of Holyoke, was announced today. The naming of Mr. Cummings to this office, which was created at the national convention recently held in Detroit, makes Mr. Cummings a State officer.

Mr. Cummings has been particularly active in this line, and it was through his efforts that Irish history was included in the curricula of parochial schools of the State in 1903. And through his efforts, Irish history was placed in the course of study in the grammar and high schools of Boston.

DENIES CORNELL ATTACKED MRS. FRANCIS

Mrs. Lord Says "Doped" Whiskey Charge in Her Rooms Is Absurd

"It's a 'frame-up.'"

In these words Mrs. Benjamin O. Lord, known in the "movie" world as Sally Trask, dismissed the charges of Mrs. Anna Francis of Columbus avenue that Herbert Cornell of Brighton gave her "doped" whiskey and later attacked her in the Lord apartment, No. 83 Westland avenue. Cornell is out on $500 bail awaiting a hearing of the Francis woman's charges.

"The charge of Mrs. Francis, that she was attacked in my apartment by Mr. Cornell after he had given her three drinks of 'doped' whiskey, are absurd and ridiculous," said Mrs. Lord.

"I was in my apartment on the second of last July when Mrs. Francis claims she was attacked by Mr. Cornell. I did not leave the apartment during her stay unless it was to take my dog out for an airing or to go to the corner store for a few minutes. Another young woman—Bernice Fraser—was in the apartment at the time, too.

"We did not hear any autories from Mrs. Francis that day. Her statement that I assisted her to a bedroom and left her there alone with Mr. Cornell are incorrect. I did nothing of the sort.

"I have already told the police all I know about the relations of Mr. Cornell and Mrs. Francis and I am willing to repeat my story when the case comes up next Tuesday. All I know is that Mr. Cornell was making a picture from Dr. George W. Galvin's story and photographed different people in my apartment, including myself. Mrs. Francis was suggested for the 'vamp' part.

"The part called for poses in flimsy attire but not half so bad as some screen 'vamps' wear. Naturally when Mr. Cornell took pictures of Mrs. Francis she wore 'vampy' clothes. But to say that he took an unfair advantage of her in my apartment is tommyrot and I am willing to tell that to any judge. The whole thing is a 'frame-up' and another woman and a motion picture man are behind the attack on Mr. Cornell's character."

LEXINGTON FAMILY TO HAVE DOUBLE WEDDING

Lexington's first double wedding in years will take place at 6 o'clock tonight, when Miss Anna Theresa Rudd of No. 112 Woburn street becomes the bride of James B. Varley of Brooks street, Concord, and her brother, Thomas, marries Miss Mary Catherine Conway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Conway of Lexington. The double marriage will be in St. Bridget's Church, Lexington. Rev. John F. Kelleher will officiate. Both bridegrooms are veterans of the late war. Mr. and Mrs. Varley will live in Cuba after a wedding trip. Varley has sugar interests there. Mr. and Mrs. Rudd will live at No. 109 Bedford street, Lexington.

SOUTH END MAN HELD IN THEFT OF HANDBAG

Charged with stealing a handbag and with being found in possession of a hypodermic needle, Angelo Greene of Melrose street, South End, was arraigned in Municipal Court today. He was accused of stealing the bag from the automobile of Frank Leavey, an Ohio salesman stopping in Boston. The defendant pleaded not guilty and said he bought the bag from another man. Judge Murray continued the case to Friday to give the police a chance to investigate.

VIENNA RIOTS SERIOUS AFTER BOURSE CLOSES

Vienna, Sept. 21.—Serious disorders occurred in this city following the closing of the Bourse. Many rushes were made upon the entrances to the building, but these were checked by the police. The crowds then wrecked the shops of several money changers in the vicinity, while a few men suspected of speculating in foreign exchange were dragged from their automobiles and beaten.

SENATE TAKES UP TREATIES, BEER, TAX AND TOLLS

House Finds But Little for It to Do When Congress Reconvenes

By International News Service.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The tax revision bill, the German, Austrian and Hungarian peace treaties, the anti-beer bill conference report and the Panama Canal tolls repealer were all fighting for first place in the Senate when Congress reconvened at noon today.

The ending of the congressional recess which began August 24 found the House with little or nothing to do except wait for the Senate to settle its differences. Under a gentlemen's agreement to permit most of its members to extend their vacations, the House will probably not attempt to transact any business until next month.

NEW FIGHT ON BEER BILL.

Senate leaders were bent on patching up an agreement to give the tax bill and the three treaties the right of way.

The "bone dry" search and seizure provision of the anti-beer bill was the chief stumbling block in the way of such an agreement. Senator Sterling, Republican, of South Dakota, in charge of the measure, intended to press for a vote on the conference report. His opponents served notice that they were prepared to renew the fight against its adoption.

The Borah bill to free American coastwise vessels from the payment of Panama Canal tolls was the unfinished business under a unanimous consent agreement made before the congressional recess when October 1 was fixed as the date for a final vote on it. Senator Borah, author of the bill, expressed himself willing to have it temporarily displaced provided any senator desiring to speak on it might do so at that time.

LODGE TO PRESENT TREATIES.

Submission of the German, Austrian and Hungarian treaties by the President resulted in their being sent to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in accordance with Senate procedure.

It was the intention of Senator Lodge, Republican, of Massachusetts, the committee chairman, to have each one reported promptly in turn. Senators Borah and Johnson indicated a desire to consider them more closely than did other committee members.

BOY OF SIX KILLED AFTER BUYING CANDY

Frank Chivera, six years old, of No. 5 Pioneer street, Cambridge, was instantly killed. A truck, driven by Benjamin Rabinovitz of Bine Hill avenue, Dorchester, and belonging to the Boston Egg Company, No 58 Fulton street, Boston, ran over the boy on Main street, Cambridge. Rabinovitz was locked up on a charge of manslaughter, but was released on $2,000 bail. The boy was on his way home after buying a piece of candy.

WOMAN HURLED WHISKEY IN STREET

Well-Dressed Chatham Widow Fined and Her Companion Is Set Free

A tall, exceedingly well-dressed and handsome woman, who said she was Mrs. Anna M. Bassett of Chatham, and that she buried her husband two weeks ago, was fined $5 for violation of the city ordinances in throwing a bottle of whiskey into the street and $10 for driving an automobile without lights in the Lynn District Court today.

She was arrested shortly after 3 a. m. by Patrolman Darsney when the officer saw her, in company with James F. Clark, also of Chatham, driving a darkened automobile along Eastern avenue.

According to the officer, as he was driving the car to the police headquarters, Mrs. Bassett tossed over the side a quart bottle of whiskey. The liquor ran into the gutter.

Her companion, Clark, was locked up on a charge of drunkenness, but was released by the probation officer.

Mrs. Bassett refused to talk about the affair even to Judge Reeve, beyond admitting that she had been driving the car on Clarke's license, her own having expired, and that she had a drink of whiskey.

HUB VETERANS PUSH COLE FOR LEGION HEAD

North Adams in Gala Attire for State Convention Which Opens Tomorrow

BY CHARLES O. POWER.

North Adams, Sept. 21.—Advance skirmish lines of delegates to the third annual convention of the Massachusetts Department of the American Legion, which opens in this city tomorrow, have begun to arrive. It will be a three-day session and the total number of delegates will be 614.

The convention will be held in Drury High School auditorium and will be called to order at 10 o'clock by State Commander James T. Duane. The election of officers will take place Saturday. General Charles H. Cole, overseas commander of the Fifty-first Infantry Brigade, is the leading candidate for State commander.

The candidacy of General Cole is being pushed by members of the Michael J. Perkins post of South Boston of which he is a member, and Thomas F. Foley of Worcester is being mentioned for the honor but it is understood he will not be a candidate in the event of an announcement from General Cole that he will accept an election. Members of the Perkins post have made public announcement that General Cole has agreed to serve.

Leo A. Spillane seems to have a clear field for election for another term as department adjutant. Ralph W. Robart, commander of Cambridge post, and Herbert W. Pendergast, of All-Dorchester post, are receptive candidates

Timothy Reardon, commander of Salem post, and Archie Murray, first commander of Worcester post, are candidates for second vice-commander. John W. Reth, of Roslindale, seems to be without competition for third vice-commander. Dr. Joseph W. Redden, of Springfield, present third vice-commander, may be induced to stand for promotion.

The most popular name heard for chaplain is that of the Rev. George P. O'Connor, of Roxbury, overseas chaplain of the 201st Field Artillery. State Executive Committeeman John J. Walsh of Lowell is being most prominently mentioned for State historian. No opposition has developed to Herbert L. Kuhn of Winthrop as State treasurer.

North Adams is in gala attire. The Chamber of Commerce is co-operating with the local post and the city officials in the effort to carry out a program of entertainment that will excel any yet given by convention cities. National Commander John S. Emery will attend the convention Saturday. Major-General Clarence R. Edwards, the "daddy" of the 26th Division, will make a surprise visit on one of the convention days. Governor Cox has accepted an invitation to be present.

Scenario Writer Whose Death Is Now Being Investigated

PROBE OF GIRL FILM WRITER'S DEATH STARTS

Sensational Developments Are Anticipated in Case of Zelda Crosby

New York, Sept. 21. — What may develop into a film sensation is foreshadowed in the announcement that the death of beautiful Zelda Crosby, continuity writer of the Famous Players-Lasky Company, is to be thoroughly investigated.

She died June 17, under circumstances which have since assumed a mysterious aspect.

Zelda Crosby, young, beautiful and gifted scenario writer, was supposed to have committed suicide in her New York apartment by taking an overdose of veronal, the drug that killed Olive Thomas.

She went to her death, it was explained at the time, because the man she loved forgot the sacrifices she made for him in the charms of another woman.

The man in the case was said to be one of the biggest film magnates in the United States, nd the "other woman" one of his stars.

A woman friend of the deal girl was reported to have been given $25,000 to suppress the facts of the romance, and for some time she was said to have been kept virtually a prisoner in a private hospital.

REPUBLICAN LEADS IN NEW MEXICO ELECTION

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 21.—Partial returns from eight of the twenty-five counties in New Mexico from yesterday's election to choose a United States Senator, today gave Holm O. Bursum, Republican, a lead of approximately 500 votes over Richard H. Hanna, Democrat.

C. L. Phillips, Republican chairman, claimed the election of Bursum by 6,500 plurality, while Arthur Seligman, Democratic chairman, refused to make any statement.

CLASH ON RACE COMMITTEE AT GLOUCESTER

Master Mariners Angry Over Being Virtually Ignored in Selections

Gloucester, Sept. 21.—A split that threatens the permanency of the international fishermen's race developed here at a meeting of the committee of fifty, organized by the Chamber of Commerce to promote the American side of the race this Fall.

Master mariners of the Master Mariners' Association are furiously angry over the fact that they have been virtually ignored in the formation of the committee, in that, with the exception of Captain George H. Pequet, president of the association, there is not a single seaman or fisherman on the committee.

First signs of the threatened split showed themselves when Chairman Charles D. Brown proposed that the committee which served last year be reappointed to conduct arrangements for the coming race, and that the committee be made self-perpetuating.

This brought Captain Pequet to his feet with a violent protest, declaring that the Master Mariners' Association would not contribute to the race under existing circumstances.

"This should be a race of fishermen, for fishermen and by fishermen, and not for landsmen and yachtsmen, he told the committee.

He also voiced a vigorous protest against the presence of yachtsmen on the committee.

"I don't know what the committee would have done last year if it had not been for these yachtsmen," said Brown.

NEWPORT MAY LOSE NAVY TRAINING STATION

Newport, R. I., Sept. 21.—Abandonment of the naval training station here is seen by officials in recruiting orders issued by the Navy Department. The orders provide for no new recruits for the Newport station. Recruits from New England, southeastern, eastern and central divisions are directed to the training station at Hampton Roads, Va. The forces at the local station have been reduced gradually until there are now only a few hundred men there. A majority of those are waiting transfer.

FRENCH CHEER AS PERSHING LANDS

Escorted by Warship, General Is Given Rousing Welcome to Havre

Havre, France, Sept. 21.—Greeted by picked American troops, French officials and masses of cheering, flag-waving civilians, General John J. Pershing arrived here today. General Pershing landed from the French liner Paris at 10:45 o'clock and after two hours packed with ceremonies departed for Paris.

General Pershing was in good health and spirits. He said he had had a fine voyage.

There was a tremendous din when the liner Paris, convoyed by French men-of-war, entered the harbor. All the steamships in port blew shrieking blasts from their sirens.

General Pershing was deeply impressed by the warmth of the greeting. He gazed at the American guard of honor—selected from the best American troops in France. Then he smiled and waved to the civilians who were cheering themselves hoarse. It seemed that the whole city had turned out to honor the famous American veteran.

FREE MEALS AND BEDS LEDOUX LIMIT NOW

Police Won't Interfere as Long as He Doesn't Open "Slave Auction"

New York, Sept. 21.—Urbain Ledoux, "psychic engineer" and auctioneer of the unemployed, was not molested by the police when he went forth into the streets today to feed the homeless and hungry.

Ledoux will make no attempts to hold a slave auction and the police have agreed not to hinder him as long as he confines his activities to providing food and shelter for those who need it.

Ledoux was in Brant aPrk today before most New Yorkers were out of their beds issuing tickets good for one meal at Blake's doughnut parlor.

After issuing about 100 tickets he proceeded to the waterfront in search of the unfortunate.

How to Have Pretty Natural Looking Curls

Straight, lank hair is becoming to but few women and there's no excuse now for anyone looking homely and unkempt on that account. Those who have forsworn the curling iron because of the damage it does by drying and breaking the hair, will be glad to hear that the simple simmering method will produce a far better and prettier effect, without any injurious result whatever. If just a small quantity be applied with a tooth brush before doing up the hair, the loveliest natural looking curls and waves will be in evidence in three hours, and there will be nothing sticky, sticky or greasy about it.

A few ounces of liquid silicone, obtainable at any drug store, will prove a welcome addition to many a dressing table. It is best applied by dividing the hair into strands and moistening each of them separately from root to tip. The beautiful wavy effect will last for a considerable time.—Advertisement.

KLAN RIDES OKLAHOMA STREETS, SEIZES EDITOR

Shawnee, Okla., Sept. 21.—Three hundred members of the Ku Klux Klan, in official regalia, paraded through the main streets of Shawnee and Tecumseh late last night, after capturing the night editor of a local newspaper and taking him on the journey. Nothing was done other than to display banners and send a warning note to law violators through the columns of a Shawnee newspaper.

Before allowing the newspaper man to leave the car in which he was taken on the trip, the following note was handed to him, addressed to a Shawnee newspaper:

"We are one thousand strong in Shawnee. Good Americans uphold the law. Watch the ownership of your paper and keep it in the hands of good Americans. We will clean Shawnee when the time is ripe. Bootleggers and gamblers will save trouble by leaving now."

FORMER JUDGE WHITE VERY ILL AT TAUNTON

Taunton, Sept. 21.—Lloyd E. White, who resigned as judge of the Superior Court bench last week, is desperately ill at his home on High street. He was the victim of a sudden stroke. His physician said today that there was hope that the judge would recover. Judge White is seventy-seven years old.

EXPLODING OIL STOVE CAUSES $1,000 FIRE

By prompt and effective work, the Concord fire department prevented a bad fire on Assabet avenue, Concord Junction. An oil stove in an upper chamber of a two-tenement house, owned and occuped by Nell Butcher, exploded, setting fire to the rear part of the house. The damage is estimated at $1,000.

How Yeast Vitamon Tablets Put On Firm Flesh

Increase Your Energy and Beautify the Complexion—Easy and Economical to Take—Results Quick.

This or run-down folks will find this simple test well worth trying: First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Next take Mastin's VITAMON—yeast tablets with every meal. Then weigh and measure yourself again each week and continue taking Mastin's VITAMON regularly until you are satisfied with your gain in weight and energy. Mastin's VITAMON Tablets contain highly concentrated yeast-vitamins as well as the two other still more important vitamines (Fat Soluble A and Water Soluble C), all of which, doctors say, you must have to be a rong, well and fully developed. They are now being used by thousands who appreciate their convenience, economy and quick results. By increasing the nourishing power of what you eat Mastin's VITAMON supplies just what your body needs to feed the shrunken tissues, strengthen internal organs, clear the skin and renew shattered nerve force without upsetting the stomach or causing gas. Pimples, boils and skin eruptions seem to vanish as if by magic and the complexion becomes radiantly clear and beautiful. But it is not only a question of how much better you look and feel, or what your friends say and think, the scales and tape measure will tell their own story. Even a two weeks' test will surprise you.

IMPORTANT! While the amazing health-building value of Mastin's VITAMON Tablets has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, nervous troubles, anaemia, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion and a generally weakened physical and mental condition, they should not be used by anyone with OBJECTS to having their weight increased to normal. Be sure to remember the name—Mastin's VI-TA-MON—the original and genuine yeast-vitamine tablet —there is nothing else like it. So do not accept imitations or substitutes. You can get Mastin's VITAMON Tablets at all good druggists, such as Houghton & Dutton, Shepard Stores, Eastern, Wallace-Hatch's, Macy's, Stores, Armstrong's 4 Stores, Liggetts,

MRS. MARGERY SARGENT TO WED ARTHUR ADAMS

Marriage intentions of Mrs. Margery Lee Sargent of Dover, Mass. well-known Vincent Club society girl, and Arthur Adams of No. 112 Pinckney street, Boston, have been filed at City Hall.

The prospective bride is the daughter of George Lee and Eva Ballerin Lee, and was born in Brookline. The bridegroom-to-be is the son of John L. Adams and Fanny C. Crowninshield Adams, and is a native of Quincy.

Adams gave his age as forty-four and occupation, trustee. Mrs. Sargent is twenty-seven years old.

BLAMES LABOR TROUBLES FOR SERIES OF OUTRAGES

Sterling, Sept. 21—Charles B. Lynde, contractor, whose house and barn on Redstone Hill road were destroyed by fire, complained to the police today that the fire was incendiary and the climax of a long series of persecutions by mysterious enemies. Lynde intimated that it might be on account of labor troubles he has had.

The alleged persecution began eight months ago, when Lynde, answering a knock at his door, was felled by a blow with a club. Later he was sicked in the stomach by a man he discovered ransacking his home. Only a few nights ago he was robbed of $70.

SOCIETY HAPPENINGS OF GREATER BOSTON

Two Brookline Sisters to Dance at Lenox

By BETTY ALDEN.

Friends of Francesca and Berthe Braggiotti of Brookline will be interested to know that these talented sisters are to give an exhibition dance tomorrow afternoon at Sedgwick Hall, Lenox, as is to be expected, tomorrow's occasion is a charity function—a benefit in aid of the Ascension Farm School at South Lee.

Boston society has had many an opportunity to watch the terpsichorean grace of Francesca and Berthe—and Berthe, by the way, is not unparticular as to the spelling of her cognomen. Both girls, who live on Upland road, Brookline, are members of the Sewing Circle and the Vincent Club, and the annual "shows" of the latter organization would hardly be complete without at least one or two numbers by these charming sisters.

Mrs. George von L. Meyer of Washington and Hamilton recently entertained them at her North Shore summer estate, and members of the Boston contingent along the Shore gave Mrs. von L. Meyer's young guests a glad welcome.

I hear that following their stay in Lenox, Berthe and Francesca are to go on to New York on a visit.

The coming marriage of Miss Alice Isabel Judson and Russell Kennedy Jones, both of New York, is of interest in Boston, in that the bride-to-be has chosen Mrs. John Hoar of Charles River Village as one of her attendants. Mrs. Hoar was formerly Miss Dorothy E. Brown of New York.

Due to the decided social prominence of Miss Judson's family, the wedding, which will take place on October 8, in the Church of the Heavenly Rest, promises to be a widely-paragraphed one. Miss Judson's mother is Mrs. Samuel Hyatt Vallance, formerly Mrs. Cambridge Livingston, and it is through her mother that the bride-to-be is related to Major-General Leonard Wood, Governor-General of the Philippines. Through her father, who was Cyrus Field Judson, Miss Judson is a great-granddaughter of Cyrus W. Field, who promoted the first trans-Atlantic cable.

Following the nuptial event, there is to be a reception at the Hotel Plaza at which representatives from Gotham's oldest families will be present.

The Speaker of the House and Mrs. Frederick H. Gillett are at present in Springfield, Mass., and will be back in Washington by October 1.

Operations of "Fall opening" on the Stephen Bennett house at No. 329 Commonwealth avenue continue with increased vigor. This morning I saw Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham's (Elizabeth Bennett) car outside the Bunnett domicile, which seems to indicate that it will soon be inhabited for the season.

SISTERS WHO DANCE FOR CHARITY

Miss Francesca and Berthe Braggiotti, of Upland road, Brookline, are seen in a dance which they gave at a recent Vincent Club "show." Both girls are members of the Sewing Circle and Vincent Club.

HIT BY AUTO, MOTHER AND GIRL DYING

Taxicab Grinds Pair Under Wheels in Quincy While Crossing Street

Ground under the wheels of a taxicab operated by George McKenzie of No. 10 Taylor street, Braintree, as they stepped from the curb on Hancock street, near City square, Quincy, Mrs. Martha Ruggles, forty years old, and her ten-year-old daughter, Dorothy, of No. 72 Glen Coe place, Quincy, were rushed to the Quincy City Hospital where they were reported to be dying.

The mother has a fractured skull, lacerations of the face and multiple bruises about the body. The daughter was badly bruised about the face, head and body, and is said to have internal injuries.

According to the police, the taxi was traveling at a moderate rate of speed. As they stepped off the curb to the street, the front of the machine knocked them down. The daughter was hurled against the curbing, on which she struck her head in falling.

Mrs. Ruggles, a large woman weighing about 250 pounds, was wedged under the right forwarl wheel. A crowd, which had quickly gathered, lifted the front end of the taxi, while others pulled the injured woman to safety. First aid treatment was rendered by Dr. Richard M. Ash.

WAR BRIDE HAS RETURNED TO CONCERT STAGE

Yvonne Legrand to Appear With Tita Ruffo, Great Italian Baritone

There have been many French war brides, but so far as is known Yvonne Legrand is the only war bride who is also a grand opera singer with such a wonderful voice that she is to appear in concert with Tita Ruffo, the world's greatest baritone.

Madame Legrand is the wife of Captain James Allen Ryan, U. S. A., a member of the U. S. Rifle team and one of the expert shots in the world. It was while he was in Paris that Captain Ryan first met the beautiful young French opera singer Yvonne Legrand, just after the armistice.

She had been singing at the Opera Comique and appeared in such great roles as "Manon" and Michaela in "Carmen" with success, but during the war she served as a Red Cross nurse and finally achieved the remarkable post of hospital physicians' first assistant at the U. S. ated Cross Hospital at Bordeaux.

Her father was Fernand Legrand, for many years consul-general of France in Berlin. He was captured by the Germans when they invaded Serbia and was a prisoner for four years. His daughter narrowly escaped capture at Lille, her native city. Captain and Mrs. Ryan live at No. 77 Newhall street, Lynn, at present, and, after four years without singing, the young Frenchwoman secured her husband's consent to returning to the concert stage.

So remarkable is her voice that she was engaged, upon first hearing, to appear in a joint concert with Tita Ruffo, the great Italian baritone, at the opening concert of the Lynn Star Course in the Olympic Theatre, Lynn, Sunday, October 16.

BANK CLERK ENDS LIFE IN MUDDY RIVER

William N. Johnstone, a bond clerk in the Temple place branch of the Old Colony Trust Company, committed suicide by drowning in Muddy River, Back Bay Fens, because of illness continuing after an operation. He was thirty-seven years of age, single and lived at Technology Chambers, Back Bay. When his operation failed to correct his illness he decided to end his life.

Johnstone had been employed by the Old Colony Trust Company for fifteen years and was highly regarded by the officials.

BUILDING UP YOUR RESERVE STRENGTH

How To Store Up Fighting Power To Resist Disease

If you are strong and well your system has a reserve supply of fighting energy to draw on whenever you are exposed to colds or other disease germs, and this energy enables you to throw off and overcome the disease.

But if you find that you are tired, weak or run down in health this reserve supply has been exhausted and unless you can replace it at once you are in danger. Because it supplies the food substances which produce strength and enable you to withstand fatigue and hardship, Father John's Medicine is the commonsense tonic, energy-builder for you to take right now. It is guaranteed free from alcohol or dangerous drugs. It is not a stimulant but a nourishing flesh-builder by means of which the system stores up energy to be drawn on whenever it is needed.

Fresh From Paris

The Latest Word From Marie Suzanne

Paris, France.

A LITTLE gown of pearl gray broadcloth has looked about and selected itself only the best of the Winter mode. There is an oddly-paneled bodice, having its low waistline slimly girdled; a bateau neckline, and a pointed drapery to break the hemline. The need of fur in the already smart costume is recognized in the wide sleeves of deep gray mole and the band at the bottom of the skirt.

EQUALLY atractive is a trotteur frock of Byzantine red duvetyn, its two side panels achieve the length that is imperative in lawabiding panels of this season, by adding wide bands of kolinsky, and the snug-fitting collar and muff are also of the kolinsy.

20,000 ODD FELLOWS IN TORONTO PARADE

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 21.—A parade of more than 20,000 Odd Fellows was the principal event on today's program of the Sovereign Grand Lodge convention. The parade was over four miles long, with several hundred floats and sixty bands. The biggest man among the marchers was George Montgomery of Detroit, who is 7 feet 1¼ inches tall.

$2,500 FIRE IN BROAD STREET BUILDING

KELLY SPRINGFIELD TIRES

WE have seldom indulged in superlatives. Kelly quality has been so well established that it hasn't been necessary. Today, Kellys are better than ever, but their price has been materially lowered. Exhaustion of war-priced material and economies made possible in the new Cumberland Plant have brought down costs and this saving is being passed along to the user.

Now you can buy Kellys for the same prices you will have to pay for other tires that have always sold for less.

Kelly Cords are made in two types: the Kant-Slip Tread which offers a resistance to wet, slippery streets that makes skidding next to impossible, and the sturdy Block and Button Tread. Both are long mileage tires and sell for the same price.

WAR HERO'S PLEA WINS RELEASE FOR PRETTY IMMIGRANT GIRL

MENDING HEART! Beautiful Lady Craven, former daughter of the town clerk of Invergordan, Scotland, has become reconciled to her husband, who has just succeeded to the peerage. He was married to the young Scotch beauty when only 18 and an officer in the army. (K.)

THEY'RE OFF! Three-legged tournaments are now the rage among the sand queens out at the California beaches. These comely Los Angeles girls say its great sport. However, it looks rough on the centre one.

LANGUID, LIQUID, LURING! All the medical experts in the world could never repair the damage that Mary Eaten has caused to poor, flabby male hearts. Of course that isn't Mary's fault—she just naturally grew that way. Prof. Ziegfeld found her. She's now prancing in one of his t. b. m. teasers. (K.)

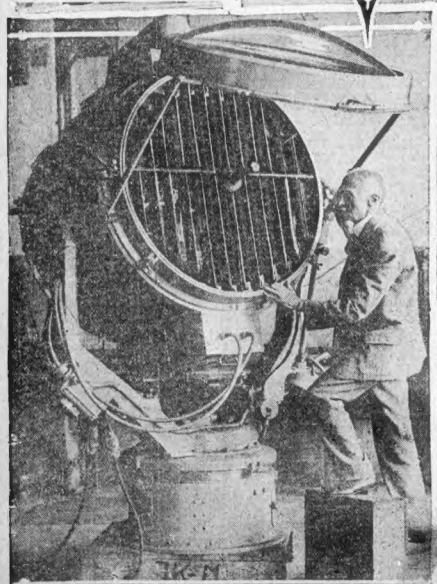
FOR DAY DREAMS! An exquisite creation is this lounging robe of black satin, trimmed with beaver cloth. Has the latest trend in sleeves and a striking convertible collar. Just the thing for a slouch before an open fireplace. An exclusive advance fashion. (U. & U.)

MAKING (right) an artistic water pitcher from the mold at a modern pottery plant. The modern method varies but little from the ancient. (U. & U.)

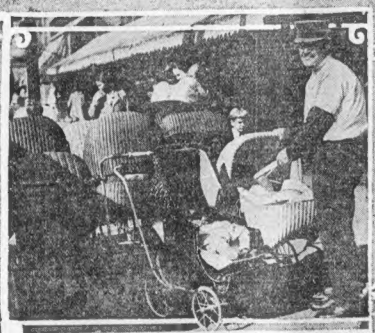
GENERAL PERSHING in "mufti" just before he sailed for France to decorate grave of an unidentified poilu with congressional medal. (W. W.)

THIS LITTLE PIG didn't have to go to market 'cause Marjorie Van Camp of Coney Island, his mistress, sees that his tummy is kept full. He's a bottle porker, too.

STELLA GRABOWIECKI, Russian nurse, has been released from Ellis Island at earnest plea of brother, a U. S. war veteran. (Int.)



HERE'S A LIGHT SUBJECT! Imagine how futile one ordinary candle is when you compare it with this searchlight of 1,200,000,000 candle-power. It is the largest in the world and is the invention of Elmer Ambrose Sperry of gyroscope fame. The face of the light is 60 inches wide. Mr. Sperry is shown inspecting the big light.



GROWLING AGAIN! Yale, with 51 eligibles eager to capture a varsity berth, may "do things" this year that will surprise some of its well-known rivals. Photo shows the boys in stiff practice. The chap in the white sweater is Tad Jones. (W. W.)

KEEP YOUR SEATS, FOLKS! She's never fallen yet—but, of course, there always—well, why be pessimistic. She defies death under the name of Miss "Babe" Kalisheh, and daily thrills thousands at Venice, Cal., with her leisurely saunters over the speeding airplane. This photo was snapped just after the plane had looped. She sat on the top wing of the machine throughout. (Int.)

THE CALL FOR VENGEANCE! Drawn by a love for the unfortunate Erzberger, this immense throng assembled before the castle in the Schlossplatz in Berlin and demanded that his assassins be punished. The demonstration in Berlin was held simultaneously with his burial at Biberach.—Placards calling on the authorities to bring the murderers to justice were carried by members of the mob. (Int.)

$1,500 TO THOSE WHO IDENTIFY AUTOMOBILES

Chance to Show How Well You Know Different Makes by Sight

Can you tell one automobile from another?

If you can, do you know the different makes?

If you do, you have a chance to win $1,500 by identifying correctly the makes of 1,500 automobiles.

The Boston American is going to conduct a contest to find out how many people can identify correctly the different makes of automobiles.

The contest will last several weeks. At one time it was thought that it would last a year, but the interest aroused by the announcement of the plan has been so great that it was decided to shorten the contest.

WORK OF YALE SQUAD CLOSELY WATCHED

By CHARLES E. PARKER

The first appearance in action of this season's Yale varsity eleven is awaited with more than customary interest not only by Yale men but by the adherents of Yale's chiefest rivals, Princeton and Harvard.

Harvard men are particularly interested. Harvard's game with Yale is supposed to be the feature of the Crimson schedule, but of recent years, insofar as real football has been concerned, Princeton has offered the much better contest, and while Harvard heartily enjoys licking Yale Harvard much prefers that Yale other a big scalp of football than has been the case in but one inter-regular season game.

The work of the new Yale line in next Saturday's game with Bates will be as closely watched as any department by those who, for one or another reason, are to study Yale's play

Yale has lately suffered so decisively at the hands of Princeton that Yale under the present circumstances of football than Harvard, when her rat or than Princeton.

The season at New Haven reports are encouraging. It is not that the Blue has bushels of veterans to begin with, but the new material promises to form a fighting unit of average quality, and an abundance of it. Being in charge of coaching staff and coaching system.

Head coach Tad Jones has limited himself to intensive training for the first week of the season, and in the meantime has had the squad although not in full strength, engaged in light practice. The squad is now in good condition, and will be put through its paces in earnest next week.

Assistant Coach Mahan has been working with the backfield candidates, and Coach Hinkey has had charge of the line candidates. Hinkey has a group of candidates, well up in the standard of the majority of big eastern teams.

Captain Tom Wade, Cuddy Murphy, Jeffersson, have risen to the occasion and have been exceptionally successful.

When a starting unit is accorded the praise that Jones, Angier and Wood, Jones, have received, there are many arguments in favor of such a statement. The Yale coach has been exceptionally successful in developing and [illegible] of accomplishing results.

Still another point in Yale's customary play that many hope to see altered this season concerns the protection of the receiver of punts.

It has long been the Yale custom to send [illegible] when punts are thought to be [illegible] the ball [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible] are [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible]

SOX FIGHT FOR THIRD PLACE MAY KILL OFF INDIANS' FLAG HOPES

By NICK FLATLEY

Red Sox and Indians, both fighting to get up a bit in the world, engaged in a second meeting at the Fenway this afternoon. The champions want to get back on the roof, from which they are one game removed, and the home gang is very anxious to scramble into third place, which is only a game and a half away. Bridging that gap means a cut in the World's Series capital, which threatens to be greater than ever.

Tris Speaker and Co. have been bumping into hard luck all year, and they ran true to form by coming here just when the natives have decided to whirl merrily down to the finish.

The Boston pitchers, as they are going now, can't be guessed at, and the team is hard defensively—a combination hard to beat.

The Indians showed the same box weakness in their opening assault that has been their main fault all season. But they have remained right at the top of the heap, despite it, and intend to keep right on.

From now till the finish, it's merely a matter of gameness between the champions and the Yan s, though the latter have the edge, inasmuch as they play most of their games on the native parture.

Speake is out in uniform again, but there's not a chance of his getting into the N. Y. series in time to help the club. That meeting was just about the death of the A. L. title and the club deserves a lot of credit for making as good a showing as it has with the fifty-per-cent of the club spirit and pep that vanished from the bench.

However, as Speaker remarks, We have to play it out, of course, but we're still in the ball game. We've been playing good ball lately, and a team right down the line may tip it at any time. The race is not to get to Rabbit Maranville's ear, well say they are.

Sam Jones was ready to take the box for the N. Y. series in the place of Bush, but the change in pitcher was due to signal for the Yanks to shout Lazzeri, but certainly of our hat to the youngster tripped the Cleveland Indians right in their place, and I'll bet a dollar to a doll better than even that he did the amazing stunt again. Lazzeri may be due to remain at the interesting spot until the season ends, for there is no way to get him out of it.

Tris Speaker was coming on the ball field yesterday and I asked him if he was going to use Lazzeri against the Yanks, inferring that I thought he was playing the infield too far back.

"I'll tell you," said Tris, "I'm going to use Lazzeri against the Yanks, but I'm not going to tell you whether I'm playing him in the infield or not."

Speaker has only been able to attend to one of the Fenway affairs so far, so he has had his hands full with the pennant race, but he has had more time to devote to the Champion Spirit work I asked him about it.

"Well," he said, "I've been trying to get a few of the players to go around to the hospitals and visit the wounded soldiers, but it's a hard proposition. Most of the players are willing to do it, but they have been playing ball every day and they don't feel like taking a trip on their day off. They want to rest up for the game the next day. I'm going to keep at it, though, and I'm sure I can get a few of the players to go around to the hospitals."

That victory was especially useful, for the Yanks' lead was cut into the 700 class; it also hauled them to within a game and a half of the St. Louis Browns and third place; it likewise took some of the chill off the afternoon for the shivering onlookers. Not much of an assembly, but plenty of shivers.

The pitchers were all in a cold sweat here yesterday, and Jones, Jones and Mays were all touched for a total of 19 hits. Ayres, Bush and Shawkey were also touched for a total of 19 hits. Ayres, Bush and Shawkey were also touched for a total of 19 hits.

* * *

Our Mr. Walters started the ball rolling with a blow that shudder through short. Vick, alee Russell, strolled, and Pitteger ran, Lindell fanned, but Foster came through with a stout double to left that scored two runs, and put the tieing one on second naturally.

Del Pratt landed a hit off the Yanks' new pitcher, Hollis Hoyt, in the third inning, but Walters was out at second, Hoyt to Ward, and Foster struck out. Walters got one when Shawkey got a hit through second in the next inning, and Caught Stealing Foster down for third when Shawkey got a hit. Foster was out at the plate on a force play.

A flock of errors and some flashy fielding featured the bout, each side having three. Walters got one when Shawkey got a hit through second in the next inning, and Caught Stealing Foster down for third when Shawkey got a hit. Foster was out at the plate on a force play.

AMATEUR RULES NOW IN NEED OF CHANGES

Present Edict Against Taking Money Simply Makes Boys Cheat in Sport

There is not a doubt that the present rules defining what we call an "amateur" could be changed to the great benefit of sport and a great uplift of the moral tone of colleges and universities.

A modification of the rules that would permit a youth to take part in baseball or football to support his mother or sister, or to pay for his own board and lodging while he is getting an education, would do away with the present hypocrisy and make it possible for many a boy to get a college education who is now debarred from it.

The idea that the taking of money for services for which there is no real equivalent simply makes one professional no one will employ him for any other purpose is absurd.

Many years ago the big central western associations worked themselves up to a state of civil war which created just such situations as now exist among some of the eastern groups.

The evil grew to such proportions that the conference themselves realized that something drastic must be done, and acting on the suggestion of Amos Alonzo Stagg, then of the University of Chicago, but now of the College of the Pacific, they passed a rule that no athlete should receive any money for his services in any form whatsoever. Under the old system of awarding a money scholarship on the basis of athletic ability, the best athletes got the money and the poor students who needed it most got none at all.

Under the new system every student who represented his college received the same amount of money, and the result was that the poor student who needed it got it, and the athlete who didn't need it got none.

The same system could be applied to the eastern colleges and universities, and would do away with the present hypocrisy.

HARD SCRIMMAGE FOR YALE VARSITY ELEVEN

New Haven, Sept. 21.—After going through light practice of morning and afternoon, the Yale varsity eleven today finished its work against the scrub for the week. Coach Ward sent the varsity through a hard scrimmage against the scrub, which was composed of Captain Murphy, Cartwright, Carroll, Ward, Pete Logan and Nowland. Nowland, who is out for a fifty-yard run for the third time since the season opened. He was the first time he had made a touchdown. The varsity lined and broke away for many yards, but run and touchdown. The varsity lined and broke away for many yards, but run and touchdown. Arthur Stringer's Studio Romance THE WINE OF LIFE Illustrated by James Montgomery Flagg

A Stirring Narrative of the Influence of Love on the Lives of a Girl and a Man of the Type That Fills a Big Niche in an Ever Changing Age

The Story of an Ambitious Young Sculptor Who Comes to New York Hoping to Win His Way to Fortune in the Metropolis

THE ACTION SO FAR.

Owen Storrow, a young sculptor coming to New York to perfect himself in his art, takes a room in a third-rate hotel. He sees Torrie Throsel, a strikingly lovely girl, on a fire-escape drying her hair. Below, the engineer of the hotel engages in a brutal battle with his wife. Torrie cries out in protest, and the engineer calls her a name that causes Storrow promptly down to engineer royal. After conquering the enemy, the girl plays the good Samaritan to Storrow and falls in love with him. He goes to the luxurious home of his sire and finds that he has offered him a position there. He meets Charlotte Falkner, his cousin, whom he saves from drowning, and who likes him. She loves him. Storrow leaves his parents' house, takes a studio in New York and finds himself next door to Torrie. [illegible] she has followers [illegible] that he is still [illegible] her, and tells him she need not be a real part in a new play. Storrow finds himself always wondering what she is doing.

FINANCE AND BUSINESS

By B. C. FORBES

The only cure for hunger is food. The only cure for unemployment is employment. Soup kitchens, bread lines, doles and other forms of charity are but poor makeshift.

Will the conference on unemployment which starts at Washington on Monday accomplish any tangible suits? It ought to.

President Harding's—or rather, Secretary Hoover's—selection of members is quite satisfactory. The list of thirty-eight contains many names which will command public confidence, and not a few that are regarded with esteem by workers.

Let us glance at some of them: The steel industry, where unemployment has been grievously aggravated, is represented by the man who unquestionably is the most popular of the steel giants in America, Charles M. Schwab. Stephen Bonsal looks upon "Charlie" as one of themselves rather than as a capitalistic nabob. He tells friends that Charlie is a great deal with them and likes them.

Henry Ford is not on the list, but his old-time partner, James Couzens, now Mayor of Detroit, is. Mayor Couzens has the knack of overcoming conflicting views. He is a keen public-spirited and he is regarded as a genuine friend of the working classes.

W. C. Procter of Procter & Gamble is an employer of the new school type. He handles his large labor force very successfully along the-roughly modern, democratic lines and, like Mayor Couzens, is more interested in doing things than in rolling up more millions for himself.

Colonel Arthur Woods, ex-police commissioner of New York, is a dynamic doer. He enjoys a high reputation as a successful handler of men. It was he who was chosen by the Secretary of War to take charge of the replacing of service men in jobs, after the war. He not only knows every angle of the un employment problem, but he will be able to make practical suggestions for its alleviation.

Jackson Johnson of St. Louis, chairman of the International Shoe Company, the largest in the world, knows from stern experience what poverty is. Both he and his principal associate, President Hand, were poor boys and had to undergo more than a normal share of hardships before they battled their way to the front. Mr. Johnson's heart is as large as his business.

Mortimer Fleishacker is one of the foremost figures on the Pacific Coast. He is a banker, but he is more than a banker. Although a large scale capitalist, he can see both sides of labor questions, and because of his fairness he was selected as peacemaker in various labor disputes which arose during the frenzied building of ships during the war.

Certainly labor cannot complain of not being adequately represented. Samuel Gompers, of course, is on the list. So is Matthew Woll, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, and one of the ablest editors of the younger labor leaders, a photo-engraver who, among other things, studied law in order to equip himself as a capable champion of labor in its wrangles with capitalists. Others are Edgar S. Clark, ex-president of the Order of Railway Conductors, and their chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission; President Carter of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers; President Lewis of the United Mine Workers; President O'Connor of the Longshoremen's Union and also a member of the United States Shipping Board, and the redoubtable Ida M. Tarbell

Perhaps the biggest thing the conference could accomplish in addition to bringing about a spirit of greater co-operation between employers and workers, and greater mutual understanding relative to price reductions and wage reductions, would be to draw up and disseminate a convincing set of facts and figures demonstrating the soundness of our whole economic position, chronicling progress already made in revising actively in many directions, and urging bankers, industrial leaders, railway operators, buyers and the consuming public to cast off the fear that has crippled them as a straitjacket and go ahead with courage and faith and industriousness.

It were foolish to indulge in noisy boasting of optimistic tom-toms were optimistic action not warranted by conditions. Let quotations rise further in the security markets and let prices rebound in a few more industries after the manner they have rebounded in cotton and, to some extent, in steel, and there would be comparatively little need for organizing either charity or unnecessary public works. It will be well, of course, for the whole country to prepare machinery for taking care of unemployment. But if the conference is to rise to the height of its opportunity, it will no handle the situation that it uses temporary expedients will not prove necessary on any wide scale.

Present conditions and the outlook do not call for further retrenchment, but for a fresh forward movement.

OILS RECEDE IN THE SECOND HOUR

Market Strong for a While After a Mixed Opening; Most Issues Stay Up

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor

After a mixed opening and an unward movement, stocks were irregular in New York at noon. Oils were leaders of the second hour decline. All in the end of the morning most issues were still up. Among the strongest were Baldwin, American Locomotive, General Asphalt, U. S. Realty, Leisenring, Lackawanna and Hudson. New York Central, Reading, Ajax Rubber and International Corporation. At their highest they ran up from one to more than two points.

Among weak issues were Mexican Petroleum, Pan American, Royal Dutch, Condon, American Tobacco and Famous Players. At their lowest they were down from one to more than three. The market was quiet, morning transactions aggregating 240,000 shares. Trading was narrow.

Call loans renewed at 4½ per cent. Foreign exchanges ruled steadily.

PRICES WORKED UPWARD.

The opening was irregular, but the market had a heavy tone and declines outnumbered gains on initial transactions. But it was found that offerings were readily absorbed and this checked short selling. Although the improvement was slow it was on a steady scale, mid-morning gains prevailed. The leaders of the advance were American Locomotive, Baldwin and Mexican Petroleum. The first named moved to the most. The borrowing demand for the oil issues was strong after the stock exchange closed yesterday and it looked flat when compared with loans at from 2 per cent, to 5 per cent. interest for some time previously. American Sugar was the only issue to command a premium, it bringing 1-64. Steels were firmer but were less active. Rails remained firm but trading in them was dull. Traders are awaiting the promised legislation at Washington in their behalf. Copper were steady on a few sales. Motors were the strongest motor and the only one to rise a point. American Tobacco and the stocks of its principal subsidiaries reached higher level than they attained in late trading yesterday.

MORE ODD LOT BUYING.

U. S. Food Products was under early pressure, selling more than two points to its previous record low. No definite action was taken at the conference of this company's executive committee with bankers regarding overdue obligations of $4,000,000, but another meeting is scheduled for tomorrow. Among other stocks to show pronounced weakness early in the session were Associated Oil and Famous Players.

While it is stated that the public is not speculating in stocks to any extent at present, brokers report that odd-lot buying is more extensive than for some time. Small investors are picking up standard securities at prevailing prices.

Hope is expressed that Congress will give the country immediate relief in the session which begins today. There is demand for legislation which will revive industries and provide jobs for the idle as well as for a settlement of the pending railroad matter.

Dividend Declarations

New England Telephone Company declared quarterly dividend of 2 per cent., payable October 15 to stock of record Sept. 19.

Pere Marquette Railway Co. declared quarterly dividend of $1.50 on preferred stock, payable Oct. 1 to stock of record Sept. 19.

COLORADO NOW FINDS RICHES IN CROPS

Glories of Silver Mines Are Thing of the Past, Says Spillane

By RICHARD SPILLANE

Denver, Colo., Sept. 21.—Denver means Colorado, otherwise the Silver State and the Centennial State. The latter is a misnomer. There is little silver mined here today. It doesn't pay, despite the Pittman act. Mining men say silver can be mined profitably only as a by-product.

Today Colorado is an agricultural land. In the field it has made great progress, though less than one per cent. second alfalfa third and corn fourth. The potato crop is immense and Scotch build big.

Of course every one knows of Colorado orchards by reason of the fruits, particularly apples and peaches, pears and cherries, being six times the money total of the cantaloupe. Truck farms abound, and the finest cabbages of the country are grown here.

BIG DAIRY BUSINESS.

The dairy business has grown amazingly. Last year it amounted to $28,000,000. The livestock from Colorado farms bring a yearly return almost double that which comes from the State's metal output.

Gone are the glories of Leadville, Cripple Creek, Aspen and such places. Men talk best sugar, improved livestock, better farming, the tourist traffic, merchandising, industrial enterprises.

The Denver shipping centre of a great mountain region stretching westnorth into Wyoming and down deep into New Mexico, and reaching into a portion of Utah. Trade has been progressing. Loyalty trade has been a trifle better than the average of Eastern cities.

This is explained in part by the tourist business. Last year 440,966 tourists were booked here. Tourist purchases have made July the second best month in the year in Denver stores, August ranking third.

Department store reports are about the same as those of eastern cities, the increase in gross being within a decrease in money value. July, 1921, for all the retailers reporting, shows 101.37 per cent. in excess of more than a year.

Warehouses are are of goods, as merchants are buying for season requirements, but not laying in excessive stocks. The most prominent store head in the city considers conditions satisfactory and says merchants are slowly and steadily recovering from the losses sustained through the forced sacrifice of goods bought at peak prices.

The biggest single industrial concern of the state is the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company, which in its coal mines and its steel mills, its iron ore quarries and ore properties normally employs 14,000 men. Its business might be classified as one-half coal and one-half of steel. Its plant is the only one west of the Mississippi manufacturing pig iron.

The anomalous situation is presented today of the company having its iron mines and its slime quarries shut down and operating only its rolling mills and the wire mills as need requires, and yet it has orders booked for 81,000 tons of rails.

The pipe foundry operates intermittently and wire nails and staples are manufactured only as demands require which means about one-third of that department's capacity. There is evidence of a slight increase in orders for wire mill products, but it remains

[illegible] with the farmers either on a price up to May 15

Best pulp makes an excellent cattle food if not given in too large quantities and this food stiffens Colorado cattle.

The biggest thing in Colorado, he says, is the improving of the lands. Fifteen years ago there were

New York, Sept. 21.—Price movements in the stock market yesterday followed Monday's tendency and the character of trading was much the same. The trend was downward and the chief sufferers were the pool stocks that have been so active lately—Mexican Petroleum, Baldwin, the tobaccos and one or two specialties. Certain issues in which short covering has been pronounced of late yielded to renewed pressure. Among these were Republic Iron & Steel, General Electric and American Woolen.

The bull movement engineered by a prominent speculator who has been credited with being bearish until lately, has not been a startling success. The public apparently does not believe strongly in a bull market at present and an upward flurry is without its traditional lure.

On the other hand, investors are active and in the bond group some issues have shown most pronounced gains. Liberty bonds, for example, today was the enormous trading and [illegible] Victory 4¾s, which [illegible] Liberty 4¼s, which [illegible] Liberty 3½s, which [illegible] Liberty 4s, which [illegible] Liberty 4½

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

By Frieda Davis

NOW that Metro has filmed "Lilliom" and sent it on its way rejoicing under the title of "A Trip to Paradise," it is up to some kind friend to present that innocent with a copy of Franz Molnar's play. They might like to read it.

Of all those who have had anything to do with the making of this picture, June Mathis, who adapted the continuity to the screen, is the only one who gives the impression of having even a nodding acquaintance with the original and that only in her subtitles. Maxwell Karger, the director, and Bert Lytell, the star, seem blissfully unaware of anything connected with the original production.

"A Trip to Paradise" is an uncommonly good picture. It is one of the best things Lytell has done in many moons. Karger has given us a splendid bit of directing, while Virginia Valli, as the girl, and Ismael de Bruiler, as the heavenly magistrate, contribute two finished pieces of acting. It is a distinctly worthwhile film—as a film.

GOOD, BUT NOT MOLNAR.

I saw the picture under an unfortunate circumstance; I have read the play. Having read the play, I more or less naturally expected to recognize the story on the screen. I was never more mistaken in my life. When the title was flashed on, I saw that Metro had given polite but passing mention to Franz Molnar, the original author. This was entirely superfluous. Franz Molnar would never recognize "A Trip to Paradise" as his brain-child. He would doubtless call it an entertaining story, but not his own.

In its entertaining, it is absorbing. It is well done. Though Lilliom is changed to Curley Flynn, Julie to Nora O'Brien, and a Viennese amusement park to a Coney Island contraption, what sooth it as long as it makes a good film? On the other hand, one regrets that it was developed from such a decidedly inspirational work as Molnar's.

Miss Mathis has brought in a good angle on the original play in Meek's remark on justice in God's court, and she has clarified it a little in transition. The point I refer to is when Meek explains cynically that justice in heaven is little different from justice here on earth: that there is a court for Curley and him and a "higher court for the swells."

When Curley is tried in God's court, he finds that rich and poor alike go before the same judge. Here a colorful and ironic touch has been omitted in the screen version. When the rich man was called, the angel-policeman said, "Please step up." When Lilliom was called he said "Step up," and Lilliom remarked bitterly, "You said 'please' to him!" A small point, indeed, but one that reflects the author's thoughts.

WELL CAST.

Bert Lytell has, as I said, done a good piece of work as Curley Flynn. He is not good as Lilliom, but as Curley one couldn't ask much more. He made a highly convincing barker for the concession and carried through his down-and-out character well. Virginia Valli should go far in films if she continues with such portrayals as she gave as Nora. Of Nigel de Bruiler as the magistrate in God's court, there is little left for me to say. I wrote of him as Tchernoff in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and as the Cardinal in "The Three Musketeers." All I can do is repeat that he is one of the most vivid, colorful and facile actors on the American screen. See him and applaud. By the way, all this may be seen at the Modern and Beacon Theatres this week.

ELINOR GLYN AGAIN.

ELINOR GLYN is not one to keep out of print. If it isn't one thing with her, why then it's another. After her appearances as a film actress in De Mille's "Affairs of Anatol" has quieted down, she came to the fore again as the author of Gloria Swanson's first starring picture, "The Great Moment."

After that she figured in the headlines of the West Coast papers for the snake party she gave at the Hollywood Hotel. There was a spectacular affair that brought out the shining lights of the film colony. Now Madame Glyn has left her California haunts for Broadway. She reached New York the end of last week after having finished the script of Miss Swanson's third picture, "Beyond the Rocks." She hasn't announced her future plans as yet.

"SILAS MARNER" COMING.

IT is a dull day indeed in the film world when some producer doesn't announce his intention to screen a well known story. The latest to do this is Frank Donovan who throws his hat into the ring with a celluloid version of the famous George Eliot book, "Silas Marner."

Mr. Donovan runs true to movie form in explaining that he will release the film under another title, "Silas Marner" will greet the movie fans as "Lantern Yard." Work was started last week and Mr. Donovan expects to have it ready in time for Fall release.

CAMERA CLICKS

AGNES KYRES is ready to start work on her first starring picture for Lasky. "The Lane That Has No Turning," from Sir Gilbert Parker's novel. After finishing "Cappy Ricks" Miss Ayres hurried to the West coast to start this production, but it was delayed that she might appear opposite Rudolph Valentino in his first featuring picture, "The Sheik."

BETTY BLYTHE has left New York after several months' vacation in the East and will start on a new spectacular production in Hollywood within a few weeks.

FINANCE AND BUSINESS

By B. C. FORBES.

The only cure for hunger is food. The only cure for unemployment is employment. Soup kitchens, bread lines, doles and other forms of charity are but poor makeshifts.

Will the conference on unemployment which starts at Washington on Monday accomplish any tangible suits? It ought to.

President Harding—or rather, Secretary Hoover's—selection of members is quite satisfactory. The list of thirty-eight contains many names which will command public confidence, and not a few that are regarded with esteem by workers.

Let us glance at some of them: The steel industry, where unemployment has been greatly widespread, is represented by the man who unquestionably is the most popular of the steel giants in America, Charles M. Schwab. Steel employment depends upon "Charlie" as one of themselves rather than as a capitalistic master. He understands them, mixes, a great deal with them and likes them.

Henry Ford is not on the list, but his old-time partner, James Couzens, now Mayor of Detroit, is. Mayor Couzens has the knack of overcoming difficulties. He is a practical public-spirited and he is regarded as a genuine friend of the working classes.

W. C. Procter of Procter & Gamble is an employer of the new school type. He knows how large scale labor forces very successfully along thoroughly modern, democratic lines and, like Mayor Couzens, is more interested in doing worthwhile things than in rolling up more millions for himself.

Colonel Arthur Woods, ex-police commissioner of New York, is a dynamic doer. He enjoys a high reputation as a successful handler of men. It was he who was chosen by the Secretary of War to take charge of the replacing of service men in jobs, after the war. He not only knows every angle of the unemployment problem, but he will be able to make practical suggestions for its alleviation.

Jackson Reynolds of St. Louis, chairman of the International Shoe Company, the largest in the world, knows from stern experience what poverty is. Both he and his principal associate, President Rand, were poor boys and had to work for more than a normal share of hardships before they battled their way to the front. Mr. Johnson's heart is as large as his business.

Mortimer Fleishacker is one of the foremost figures on the Pacific Coast. He is a banker, but he is more than a banker. Although a large scale capitalist, he knows both sides of labor questions, and because of his fairness he was selected as peacemaker in various labor disputes which were threatening the frenzied building of ships during the war.

Certainly labor cannot complain of not being adequately represented. Samuel Gompers, of course, heads the list. Matthew Woll, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, and one of the very ablest of the younger labor leaders, a photo-engraver who, among other things, studied law in order to equip himself as a capable champion of labor in its wrangles with capitalists. Others are Edgar S. Clark, ex-president of the Order of Railway Conductors, and labor members of the Interstate Commerce Commission: President Carter of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, President Lewis of the United Mine Workers; President O'Connor of the Longshoremen's Union and also a member of the United States Shipping Board, and the redoubtable Ida M. Tarbell.

Perhaps the biggest thing the conference could accomplish in addition to bringing about a spirit of greater co-operation between employers and workers and helping to create understanding relative to price reductions and wage readjustments, would be to draw up and disseminate a convincing survey of facts and figures demonstrating the soundness of our whole economic position, chronicling progress already made in revising active) industry directions, and urging bankers, industrial leaders, railway operators, buyers and the consuming public to cast off the fear that has gripped them as a straitjacket and go ahead with courage and faith and industriousness.

It were foolish to indulge in noisy beating of optimistic tom-toms were quicker action not warranted by conditions. Let quotations rise further in the security markets and let prices rebound in a few more industries after the manner they have rebounded in cotton and, to some extent, in steel, and there would be comparatively little need for organizing either charity or unnecessary public works. It will be well, of course, for the whole country to prepare machinery for taking care of unemployment. But if the confidence is to rise to the height of its opportunity, it will so handle the situation that these temporary expedients will not prove necessary on any wide scale.

Present conditions and the outlook do not call for a spring drive of optimism, but for a fresh forward movement.

Portland Cement Production

The Geological Survey reports that August production of Portland cement exceeded the average for August, 1917-1921, by about 16 per cent. Stocks of finished cement at mills at end of August this year were approximately 8,586,000 barrels, against 8,941,000 January 1, 1921, with an average of about 8,606,000 for August the last five years.

Stocks Rally and React; Irregular at Noon; Call Loans Renew at 4½ Per Cent.

OILS RECEDE IN THE SECOND HOUR

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor

After a mixed start and an unward movement, stocks were irregular in New York at noon. Oils were leaders of the second hour decline. But at the end of the morning most issues were still up. Among the strongest were Baldwin, American Locomotive, General Asphalt, U. S. Realty, Delaware, Lackawanna and Hudson, New York Central, Reading, Aiax Rubber and International Corporation. At their highest they were up from one to more than two points.

Among weak issues were Mexican Petroleum, Pan American, Royal Dutch, Cosden, American Tobacco and Famous Players. At their lowest they were down from one to more than three. The market was quiet, morning transactions approximating 240,000 shares. Trading was narrow.

Call loans renewed at 4½ per cent. Time money exchanges were steady.

PRICES WORKED UPWARD.

The opening was irregular, but the market had a heavy tone and declines outnumbered gains on initial transactions. Less than a dozen large blocks were readily absorbed and this checked short selling. Although the improvement was slow and irregular, the mid-morning gains prevailed. The leaders of the group were American Locomotive, Baldwin and Mexican Petroleum. The first named moved up the most. The current dividend rate for the oil issues was strong after the stock exchange closing yesterday and it leaned flat. This compared with loans at from 5 per cent. to 6 per cent. interest for some days recently. American Sugar was the only issue to encounter pressure. It dropped 1-64. Steels ruled higher but were less active. Rails remained firm but trading in them was light. Interest centered on the promised legislation at Washington in their behalf. Coppers were steady on a few sales. Studebaker was the strongest motor and the only one to gain a point. Goodrich Rubber was the weakest of its group. Other weakness reached higher level than they attained in late trading yesterday.

HOPE ODD LOT BUYING.

Early pressure, receding more than two points to its previous record low, two definite accessions to the list at the conference of this corporation's executive committee with bankers regarding overdue obligations of $4,500,000, but another meeting Count Albert Mensdorff, Austrian ambassador to London, and Famous Players.

While it is stated that the public is not speculating to any extent at present some brokers report that odd-lot buying is more extensive than for some time past. Investors are picking up standard securities at prevailing prices.

Hope is expressed that Congress will give the country some legislation in the session ending Saturday night. There is demand for action on taxation which will stimulate business and provide jobs for the idle as well as for a settlement of the pending railroad issues.

Cotton Market Opening

New York, Sept. 21.—Cotton was steady on initial transactions here today, influenced by the opening of the cotton market today, cause for which was outlined for a time after the call by unofficial reports that Liverpool houses thought the strength at Liverpool was due to the fact that the Egyptian crop is short and trade demand limited. Cables were received from Dallas, reporting an advance of 10 points on the basis of the first fifteen minutes the last showed not quite a point advance in prices. Opening prices were: September 20.00 offered; October, 19.70; December, 20.05; March, 20.05; May, 19.85; July, 19.52.

London Market

London, Sept. 21.—The stock market has an opening tone, but trade is quiet. Rubber shares strong. Royal Dutch was up 5 at 58. Consolidated Gold Fields was up 1-16 at 2 1-16. Rio Tinto was up 1-16 at 51 5-16. Brazils 5s 42, up 1. Rhodesian 5s 42, 42½, up ½.

NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

A dividend of two dollars ($2.00) per share will be paid on Friday, September 30, 1921, to stockholders of record at the close of business on Wednesday, September 21, 1921.

COLORADO NOW FINDS RICHES IN CROPS

Glories of Silver Mines Are Thing of the Past, Says Spillane

By RICHARD SPILLANE

Denver, Colo., Sept. 21.—Denver means Colorado, otherwise the Silver State and the Centennial State. The silver is a misnomer. There is little silver mined here today. It doesn't pay, despite the Pittman act. Mining men say silver can be mined profitably only as a by-product.

Today Colorado is an agricultural land. In the Mile High it has made great progress, although less than one-third of its area is under cultivation. Wheat ranks first with a yield of about 28,000,000 bushels, best sugar second, alfalfa third and corn fourth. The potato crop is immense and Colorado bulbs big.

Of course, every one knows of Colorado cantaloupes by reason of the fame they have won in the East, particularly apples and peaches, pears and melons, but the big money is the total of the cantaloupe. Truck farms abound. Perhaps the finest cabbages in the country are grown here.

BIG DAIRY BUSINESS.

The dairy business has grown amazingly. Last year it amounted to $25,000,000. The livestock on Colorado farms bring a yearly return approximating $100,000,000 more than the State's metal output.

Gone are the glories of Leadville, Cripple Creek, Central City and such such places. Men talk best sugar, improved livestock, tire factories, the tourist traffic, merchandising, industrial enterprises.

Denver is the jobbing centre of a great mountain region stretching well north into Wyoming and down deep into New Mexico and reaching into a portion of Utah. Trade has been progressing. Locally trade has been a trifle better than the average of Eastern cities.

This is explained in part by the tourist business. Last year 440,966 tourists were booked here. Tourist purchases have made July the second best month in the year in Denver stores, December ranking first.

Department store reports are about the same as those of eastern cities. Sales are running about 10 per cent. decrease in money value. July, 1921, as compared with July, 1920, showed 16.9 per cent. in money. July, 1920, was the best month in the year in Denver stores, December ranking first.

Department store reports are about the same as those of eastern cities. Sales are running about 10 per cent. decrease in money value. July, 1921, as compared with July, 1920, showed 16.9 per cent. in money. July, 1920, was the best month in the year in Denver stores, December ranking first.

Warehouses are are of goods, and merchants are buying for seasonal requirements, but not laying in extraordinary stocks. Every department store head in the city considers conditions satisfactory and sales are slowly and steadily improving from the losses sustained through the banner months of goods bought at peak prices.

The biggest single industrial concern of the State is the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company, which has 12 coal mines and its steel mills, its lime quarries and ore properties normally employ 6,000 men. At the height of war it might be classified as one-half of coal and one-third of steel, but today it is only one west of the Mississippi manufacturing pig iron.

The pig iron situation is presented today of the company having its iron mines and its lime quarries shut down but its steel mills and its pipe mills and its wire mills as need requires, and its rail mill has orders booked for 61,000 tons of rails.

The pipe foundry operates intermittently and wire nails and staples are manufactured only as needs require which means about one-third of that department's normal output. In evidence of a slight increase of orders for wire mill products, but it remains to be seen if this is permanent.

The company is capable of producing 1,000,000 tons of rails annually. Orders for 1921 were substantial and the mills worked two shifts until after April. Then there came a cessation from the railroads asking for deferred rolling. Then there came an insistent the rail mills were shut down. The company hopes to resume operations on the rail mills in November. This depends, however, on the ability of railroads to take the products. Meanwhile orders remain booked.

The United States Geological Survey estimates there is enough coal in Colorado to supply America for a hundred years. Besides the coal and iron deposits hydro-electric development also are great. Of course, in the harnessing of the wild streams are modified.

Best sugar has become a big industry. The Great Western Sugar Company, which operates in fifteen countries and has ten plants in Colorado, produces a normal output of 600 bags of sugar annually, a bag of sugar containing 100 pounds. It contracts with the farmers either on a guaranteed price or on option as to price up to May 15.

Beet pulp makes an excellent cattle food if not given in too large quantities and this food stiffens Colorado cattle production considerably.

Gypsum, Ammonia, Soda is one of the best informed men in the State agriculturally, says Colorado is in good condition as to crops, and that the advance in farm products came before the crop was out of the hands of the farmers and all the decline while the farmers' hands. There is a surplus of feed.

The biggest thing in Colorado today is the improving of the herds. Sixteen years ago there were no blooded farm animals here. Now thoroughbreds abound in Hereford. Livestock production has increased 100 fold and now has the production of the farm in those sixteen years.

By MONITOR.

NEW York, Sept. 21—Price movements in the stock market yesterday followed Monday's tendency and the character of trading was much the same. The trend was downward and the chief sufferers were the pool stocks that have been so active lately—Mexican Petroleum, Baldwin, the tobaccos and one or two specialties. Certain issues in which short covering has been pronounced of late yielded to renewed pressure. Among these were Sears Roebuck, General Electric and American Woolen.

THE bull movement engineered by a prominent speculator who has been credited with being bearish until lately, has not been a strikingly success. The public apparently does not believe strongly in a bull market at present and an upward flurry is without its traditional lure.

On the other hand, investors are active and in the bond group some issues have shown a most encouraging strength and activity. The feature yesterday was the enormous trading and sharp rise in Mexican bonds, particularly the 5 per cents. The progress of recognition is evidently having stirred speculative bond buyers to an unusual degree and the fact that more than seven years back interest has been accumulating makes these bonds look attractive. The rise opened today at 52¾, ran up to 59¾ and closed at 57¾. The turnover was very large.

PROFESSIONAL operations which have been evident throughout the trading in recent sessions were more pronounced today after an opening drive at Baldwin and Mexican Petroleum, a sharp rally ensued. There seems no new key to account for the movement in either case and the buying reported transactions in both stocks chiefly for the account of floor traders.

SOME outside information was brought in to the market before the recent advance in prices, but no such public participation was obtained as had been expected. The result of the upward move in prices was to establish a more optimistic sentiment among the brokers, and the placing of orders for the purchase of stocks at or near the lowest prices recorded for the month, a canvass of commission houses indicates.

THE big professional element turned out to be the short side of the market, when the same factors which were responsible for the general advance hammered to force a rally in steel. It is reported that another attempt will be made to force steel to higher levels with the idea of encouraging public participation, but in the present temper of the market it is believed that offerings would frustrate such a movement. Most of the bearish factors are of the opinion that the market, as a whole, is working in long time zone, but are urging their customers to make purchases only on recessions.

THE American Smelting and Refining Company today advanced the price of lead from 6.60 to 6.75 cents a pound. This attracted a' otion to other stocks. Many of the lead producers who yesterday asserted they would maintain a quotation of 12 1-2 cents for the month of October declined to follow suit. Yesterday's advance was effected by offering the metal at 6.75 cents. Such small business as is being done is on the basis of 12½ cents. The government report of a production of 1,250,000,000 pounds served to dampen the enthusiasm of those who have believed that the surplus stocks of the companies were being reduced steadily.

DIRECTORS of the General Motors Corporation will meet Thursday to vote on dividends. It is reported that the present rate of 25 cents per share on the common will be declared. During the first quarter the corporation did not earn the dividend but it is understood that the payment was slightly exceeded by earnings of the second and third quarters and in authoritative circles it is said that by the end of the year full payments will have been earned. Such improvement in the volume of business is reported.

SELLING which came into General Electric yesterday based on an official statement that production in the Lynn plant, was largely speculative. It is understood that there is a considerable volume of unfilled orders from 120 down for the account of investors who welcome an opportunity to obtain this character of investment on a 10 per cent. basis.

City of Boston Valuation

Valuations for the city of Boston for 1921 show a gain on real estate of $24,306,300, and a let loss on personal property of $1,428,137. The net gain in total valuation was $23,-278,163.

New High Gold Record

September has already established a high record for this country as to gold holdings, the $10,000,000 received in coin or yellow metal on Monday last making the total more than $3,387,000,000.

State and City Loans

Newark, Mass., will receive proposals until 5 p. m. September 22, for temporary loans in anticipation of revenue, of $100,000, maturing November 30, 1922.

Medford, Mass., has sold a temporary loan in anticipation of taxes of $100,000, dated to-day, August 22, 1921, maturing November 22, 1922, to Chase & Co., at 99.589, $50,000 5 per cent. surface drainage bonds, due $5,000 July 1, 1922, to 1931 at 99.580 5¼ per cent. Franklin School addition bonds, due 1922 to 1931.

The $2,000,000 Connecticut State bonds dated September 1, 1921, have been sold by Parkinson & Burr, Fox, Webber & Co., Watkins & Co., Redmond & Co., and Tillotson & Co., Hartford, at 106.428.

IRREGULARITY IN BUSINESS GOOD SIGN

But Grand Improvement on Strength of Few Pointers Too Much to Expect

By C. B. EVANS

Chicago, Sept. 21.—The characteristic of business as seen from this viewpoint is irregularity, and after there has been a straight downward course of affairs irregularity is a good sign, for it holds out a certain promise of betterment.

The upshot of cotton is the phenomenon of the times, and the continued decline in wages contradicts it. The high hopes for wheat, based on sound principles are somewhat disappointed in spite of large exports. Steel goes up a little with the unfilled orders of the companies declining. Money goes down at the rate of 6 per cent. and yet it are needed for the salvation of failing concerns, which in number are larger than for many days, but he does not look for much beyond. Europe is among his reasons for that time, for Europe he considers. Is improving little or not at all. Cotton still going down is one of the big things. It is his guess that it will "sell higher than wool"—which would certainly be an insult to the simple sheep-tending sheep. Some cotton sells above some wool draggle.

A sample on the other side of the account is a producing concern in Illinois, which says the world over, which with six months' supply of its product on hand in all manufacturing at a loss, hoping that some time the "revival in business" will be felt somewhat hardly. The company is a victim of the high cost of coal and labor. Chemicals also rather into the list of things and they are not such great offenders.

TURN TO BE TITANIC.

When the real turn does come—and it will come motion started—we are going to have one of the greatest of speculation in our history, for the action will be based on facts, not on what we get theirs. The bears will have a serious problem to deal with with plenty of shanks underneath, and rampant bulls, even if they have fun, will be in the right position under the deep.

(Copyright, 1921, C. B. Evans.)

Small Crop Cotton

Regarding the cotton outlook an international authority is quoted by the Iowa Homestead as saying: "Never have I seen the boll weevil so destructive as this year. The deterioration from this source since August 25, the date of the last government report, is greater than at any previous time. I estimate the final crop at 8,500,000 bales as a maximum and 8,000,000 as a minimum. There will be no top crop this year. One picking will get all the cotton."

Boston Financial Notes

The tax rate for the city of Boston this year is the biggest in its history.

Swallen Hudson, Detroit, Mich., has been elected to succeed James W. Shields, resigned, as president of Swallen & Co., Boston.

At the session to be held by the War Department in Boston, Sept. 26, bids for $1,500,000 pounds will be offered.

Directors of the Boston & Albany Cobalt company have declared a dividend of 1 per cent.

Avadian Consolidated directors have declared a dividend of 1 per cent.

The Hendee Manufacturing Co. has organized a company in Illinois with a capital of $12,500,000, to succeed the Co. Incorporated.

During the June fiscal year the Boston Consolidated Gas Co. increased the number of electrics in use by its consumers 1,642 to a total of 19,000.

Georges Carpentier has been elected a director of the New England Telephone director to succeed the late Colonel Thomas F. Cole.

For the year ended June 30 last the Edison Electric Illuminating Co. of Boston reported earnings after all charges of $3,801,580, equal to $17.10 a share on the 222,000 capital stock, against $17.83 a share in 1920.

The Boston Elevated Railroad Co. Retained Co., after a reserve of $85,000 amounted to $416,000.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

By Frieda Davis

NOW that Metro has filmed "Lilion" and sent it on its way rejoicing under the title of "A Trip to Paradise," it is up to some kind friend to present the concern with a copy of Frans Molnar's play. They might like to read it.

Of those who have had any thing to do with the making of this picture, June Mathis, who adapted the continuity to the screen, is the only one who gives the impression of having even a nodding acquaintance with the original and that only in her subtitles. Maxwell Karger, the director, and Bert Lytell, the star, seem blissfully unaware of anything connected with the original production.

"A Trip to Paradise" is an uncommonly good picture. It is one of the best things Lytell has done in many months. Karger has given us a splendid bit of directing, while Virginia Valli, as the girl, and Nigel de Bruler, as the heavenly magistrate, contribute two finished pieces of acting. It is a distinctly worthwhile film—as a film.

GOOD, BUT NOT MOLNAR.

I saw the picture under an unfortunate circumstance; I have read the play. Having read the play, I mean or ions naturally expected to recognize the story on the screen. I was never more mistaken in my life. When the title was flashed on, I saw that Metro had given polite but passing mention to Frans Molnar, the original author. This was entirely superfluous. Frans Molnar would never recognize "A Trip to Paradise" as his brain-child. He would doubtless call it an entertaining story, but not his own.

It is entertaining. It is absorbing. It is well done. Though Lilion is changed to Curley Flynn, Julie to Nora O'Brien, and a Viennese amusement park to a Coney Island concession, what boots it as long as it makes a good film? On the other hand, one regrets that it was detached from such a decidedly inspirational work as Molnar's.

Miss Mathis has brought in a good angle of the original play in Meek's remark on justice in God's court, and she has clarified it a little in transition. The point I refer to is when Meek explains cynically that justice in heaven is little different from justice here on earth; that there is a court for Curley and him and a "higher court for the swells."

When Curley is tried in God's court, he finds that rich and poor alike go before the same judge. Here a colorful and ironic touch has been omitted in the screen version. When the rich man was called, the angel-policeman said, "Please step up." When Lilion was called he said "Step up," and Lilion remarked bitterly, "You said 'please' to him!" A small point, indeed, but one that reflects the author's thoughts.

WELL CAST.

Bert Lytell has, as I said, done a good piece of work as Curley Flynn. He is not good as Lilion, but as Curley one couldn't ask much more. He made a highly convincing barker for the concession and carried through his down-and-out character well. Virginia Valli should go far in films if she continues with such portrayals as she gave as Nora. Of Nigel de Bruller as the magistrate in God's court, there is little left for me to say. I wrote of him as Tchernoff in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and as the Cardinal in "The Three Musketeers." All I can do is repeat that he is one of the most vivid, colorful and facile actors on the American screen. See him and applaud. By the way, all this may be seen at the Modern and Beacon Theatres this week.

ELINOR GLYN AGAIN.

ELINOR GLYN is not one to keep out of print. If it isn't one thing with her, why then it's another. After her appearances as a film actress in De Mille's "Affairs of Anatol" has quieted down, she came to the fore again as the author of Gloria Swanson's first starring picture, "The Great Moment."

After that she figured in the headlines of the West Coast papers for the snake party she gave at the Hollywood Hotel. This was a spectacular affair that brought out the shining lights of the film colony. Now Madame Glyn has left her California haunts for Broadway. She reached New York the end of last week after having finished the script of Miss Swanson's third picture, "Beyond the Rocks." She hasn't announced her future plans as yet.

"SILAS MARNER" COMING.

IT IS a dull day indeed in the film world when some producer doesn't announce his intention to screen a well known story. The latest to do this is Frank Donovan who throws his hat into the ring with a celluloid version of the famous George Eliot book, "Silas Marner."

Mr. Donovan runs true to movie form in expatiating that he will release the film under another title. "Silas Marner" will greet the movie fans as "Lantern Yard." Work was started last week and Mr. Donovan expects to have it ready in time for Fall release.

CAMERA CLICKS

AGNES AYRES is ready to start work on her first starring picture for Lasky, "The Land That Has No Turning," from Sir Gilbert Parker's novel. After finishing "Cappy Ricks" Miss Ayres hurried to the West coast to start this production, but it was delayed that she might appear opposite Rudolph Valentino in his featuring picture, "The Sheik."

BETTY BLYTHE has left New York after several months' vacation in the East and will start on a new spectacular production in Hollywood within a few weeks.

Why Does the Government Pay Interest?

It Interests You, YOU Pay

Copyright, 1921, Star Company

On Thursday, September 15, the government, which means you and your friends, paid five hundred and thirty-five millions to redeem Treasury certificates. It also paid one hundred millions in interest. Interest is expensive when you get into the billions. The interest that Europe owes this country would pay the bill, of course, but it is too late to worry about that.

We had our hysterical, generous fit, and must pay for it. This, however, you might think over. Instead of issuing Treasury certificates and paying gigantic sums in interest, the government could perfectly well issue currency—never mind if people call it fiat money—and at its leisure the country could redeem the currency instead of redeeming Treasury certificates, and PAY NO INTEREST. Financiers will tell you that couldn't be done. But you must remember that financiers are the ones that get the interest that the government pays needlessly.

If a financier were able to issue his own notes, to be used as currency, and at his convenience buy them back without paying any interest, don't you think he would do it? Do you suppose he would insist on paying, as the government does, millions upon millions in interest uselessly?

Not only would the issuing of a few hundred millions of currency from time to time make unnecessary the issue of Treasury certificates and save tens of millions in interest, but it would also stimulate business, make money "easier," as the bankers put it.

The country now hasn't money enough to carry on its affairs. That is evident when builders cannot borrow except by paying criminal usury in the form of commissions for loans, and when even financial institutions break the laws against usury without hesitation.

Wicked Farmers and Laborers

But What About Highly Intelligent Financial Gentlemen, Governor Miller?

Copyright, 1921, Star Company

Governor Miller, very intelligent and able chief executive of New York State, solemnly, with finger pointing to the sky, "warns farmer and labor organizations against seeking to exert political power."

He says "it is hostile to American institutions" for such bodies "to seek to exert political power."

What about the financial organizations, the real thinkers and rulers, that put their men on the bench, put them in as Governor and cleverly use farmers and laborers against each other—as the British use the Mussulmans and the Hindus in India?

Governor Miller spoke at a country fair to the farmers.

Will Governor Miller kindly go to Wall Street and tell the gentlemen there (with the other finger pointed toward the sky) something about the wickedness of financiers combining to exercise public power? Nobody knows better than Governor Miller what power those financiers have, how they keep off the bench men that interfere with their little financial plans, and keep them out of other offices, and put in whom they want.

Is that entirely constitutional and moral? Apparently it is, for nobody in office ever seems to say very much against it.

A King's Drab Life

The Unhappy Career of King Peter of Serbia

Copyright, 1921, Star Company

In 1844 Peter I. was born in Belgrade. In 1858 he had to go into exile with his father, Prince Alexander, who was outmatched by the rival family of the Obrenovitch.

Peter goes to school in Paris, then to the military academies.

The Franco-Prussian War breaks out, and Peter enrolls in the Foreign Legion, where he is made an officer, and really sees fighting and shows courage. Peace concluded, he resigns.

In 1875 he joins in the revolution of the Bosnia Herzegovinians. One day he rescues the children of the Prince of Montenegro from the Turks. One of these children was a Princess. Some years after Peter marries this Princess, and lives in her father's capital of Cetinje.

In 1890 Princess Forka dies and Peter goes to Paris, then to Geneva. In Geneva he lives, until 1903, the life of any small householder with a passable bank account.

In 1903 Prince Alexander Obrenovitch and Queen Draga were murdered in the Old Palace at Belgrade.

Peter was invited back to the throne of Serbia in that same year.

The court of Belgrade was not so different from the simple home in Geneva. There was water at table; there were two or three gala dinners a year and as many balls. The King cost his country about $3 a day, we are told, for his personal expenses.

We hear of only one element of beauty in the family life—music.

There was an element of disquiet—the Crown Prince George, who finally had to be disinherited in favor of the present King Alexander.

In 1912 Serbia again went to war against the Turks. As always, Peter was at the head of his armies.

In 1914—the tragedy that was destined to annex great territories to the Serbian crown. And Peter continued to fight, in victory and in defeat.

His seventy-second year saw him an exile again.

A newspaper reporter found him in a banal red villa perched on the shore of the Island of Chalkis. He had conferred the virtual power on Prince Alexander. And in Chalkis he drew out the same hard, drab life that seems always to have been his. He rode a motorcycle fifty miles every day although rheumatism had laid a heavy hand upon him. Then, in the evening, he would walk upon the terrace, gesticulating, they say, or even wrapping in sneer anger at the misfortunes of his country.

In 1918 he went back to Belgrade, now the capital of Yugoslavia. He died recently.

This is pretty poky reading.

Peter's life was poky.

The monarch's life is not a happy one. It's worse than a policeman's.

BUILD HOMES POOR PEOPLE CAN BUY

Nellie Bly Urges Philanthropists to Construct Houses That Working People May Purchase and Thus Escape From Rent Profiteers

By Nellie Bly

THE home owner is always the best citizen.

Because he is a home owner he believes in order, honesty, and respectability, and is a staunch supporter of the government.

The most satisfied and happy people are those who own the places where they live. Life means more to them than it does to the renter. In some languages there is no such word as "home." "House" is the best they have, and "house" is all that a renter knows. It is a place of shelter for a period of the lease, but it is no more home than a hotel.

Home is only that spot which belongs to you; the abode which you can alter to suit your likings and desires. It is a part of yourself and is precious because it means just what it is—your home, from which you can bar the whole world.

Homes for Poor Needed

Home owners can live cheaper than others. To be stable and fixed in one spot is in itself economical. Home owners can accumulate and save their belongings. That also lends to economy. The expense of moving and the losses unavoidably incidental to transferring from one place to another and to altering furnishings to suit the new abode form an item large enough to pay the interest upon even a large mortgage. In addition to this material loss is the loss to health and nerves, the loss of friends and the loss of time in getting used to new surroundings, which mean a big sum in one's existence.

It has become a well established fact that the melting pot of America doesn't melt. Foreigners cluster together in our country making whole sections their own, where they live their lives the same as they did in their native lands. This evil could be entirely obliterated if foreigners were driven out to the suburbs and compelled to become home owners.

There are, of course, builders who are erecting houses in various sections. But these houses are only for the well-to-do. The profits upon them make it impossible for the poor to invest. If some real American, a patriot, who desired not only to benefit humanity, but to benefit our government, would buy up tracts of land and build modest homes for modest prices which could be sold to the honest, hard-working poor on just and square terms it would be the greatest philanthropic act ever performed in the United States. Millions of decent, hard-working, honest, home-loving Americans find it impossible ever to possess a place of their own because of high prices and dangerous terms.

The most horrifying part of the rent profiteering now inflicted upon us is that much of it is perpetrated upon the American public by foreigners, the majority of whom are not even naturalized. These foreigners are not only keen on tricks, which an American could never concoct, but are brazenly shameless in their swindling scheme. And the American renter must submit to being skinned.

Here is a sample of one out of millions of decent American people who should have homes they could call their own, and who would honestly and faithfully pay for homes if there were honest and faithful speculators to sell to them:

Woman in Quandary

"Rockaway Beach, Aug. 26, 1921.

"Dear Nellie Bly—I am in great trouble and am appealing to you to help me out of it or show me a way out. I will try to explain as much as I can without taking too much of your time.

"About a year ago this month, we, my husband, my three children and myself, were living quite happily, when my husband had to give up his position on account of his health. The doctor told him he must get something to do where he would not have to work such long hours.

"At that time we had a bungalow at Rockaway, and had already paid a deposit on it for this year. I had four rooms in the city and was paying only $15 a month. They were in the rear of a business building. I sublet three of these rooms for $10 a week, and that enabled us to take a bungalow for the season of five months for $225.

"When I went back to the city in September we were asked to move on account of the building being turned into a business building altogether. So we had quite some trouble to get a place on account of the children, also because of the high rents.

We finally secured a place for $55 a month, which was a whole lot more than we could afford; but it was the only thing we could do. So we decided to take it and let out a couple of rooms.

"This did not work out very well. My husband was not working steady; in fact he had no work from Christmas until the middle of March.

"Luckily he then secured a job for $60 a week, and things began to look brighter. I had to give up the apartment, though as the rent was too much, and renting out the rooms was not as easy as I expected because we were not in a convenient neighborhood.

"Then I decided to go back to the bungalow because we had already paid a deposit of $75 on it, and although a bungalow sounds like a luxury, it was really a God-send to us. For we could live here much cheaper for several reasons which I will explain.

"The rent of the bungalow for this year was to be $250 for the season, from May 1st to October 1st—$25 raise over last year. We had paid $75 on account before we left here last year not knowing or expecting our circumstances were to change so.

"I thought things over, and finally a friend of ours decided he would take one room of the bungalow and pay us $100 for the season. That helped a whole lot, for then we had only a balance of $75 to pay, and we would be safe for a home for five months.

"The living here is cheaper because the farmers come in from Long Island with vegetables, and there is a cheap store, where prices are reasonable, right near.

"I have two boys and a girl, ten, nine and five years of age. I am sure you know about what it costs to provide shoes, etc., for children of that age. Well, down here I can save a whole lot on clothes, because the boys go barefoot every day except Sunday. Weekdays they wear their bathing suits and that helps to save their pants and blouses. Besides, it reduces work and washing.

Everything was fairly straightening itself out when my husband was dismissed because of depression in business. He had only been working three and a half months, and we went into considerable debt last Winter while he was idle, and were paying different obligations when we did get the money every week. So we were unable to save any. And when on July 1st my husband was dismissed we were up against it again.

Would Take Domestic Job

"I think if some good people would take my children for a while I would get something to do to help out. My husband is an accountant, but will work at anything he can get. I am sure I could get work as a nurse or maid or even a cook in some family, for I think housework of some kind is the only thing I can make a success of. My home was my pride, but it is gone for the present and I am at my wit's end to know what I am to do.

"I am asking you again, dear Miss Bly, to try and show me a way out.

"This letter is longer than I expected it would be, but I wanted you to know all so you would understand just what circumstances we are in.

"Thanking you for any kindness and help you may be able to give.

"F. G. B."

This is one of the results of immigration. I know of an alien who was smuggled into this country two weeks ago and who was immediately put into a job. That job could have been filled by this American husband, who is now unemployed, it would have enabled him to keep his wife at home and his children from starving. But now the money that alien is receiving for this work that belongs to an American is being sent back to Europe to keep his family in their native country.

HOW DO YOU MANAGE TO CATCH FLIES?

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

PROBABLY, you are not a professional fly-catcher.

Therefore, you may just swat them when you see them, instead of trying to prove the truth of the old saw, that it is easier to catch flies with molasses than with vinegar.

However, you are likely to be wise enough in practicality to realize that sweet words are more effective than sour mien and surly manner to win your way with men, whatever may be true of flies.

These proverbs of the human race are the crystallized experiences of mankind. To change the figure, they are the social currency stamped with the values of world-old wisdom.

Indeed, these simple, elemental proverbs are the enlightened intuitions of our human nature, thus gifted with power to look into the heart of things.

It is not strange that so many fine and well-intentioned persons, having given up the guidance of traditional faiths, will say that their religion is summed up in the Golden Rule.

In Tabloid Form

For, certainly, that is the wisdom of feasible idealism put up in tabloid form.

And as it is with the homely saw referred to at the beginning of this essay. It is no mere canny cleverism, sounding a cynical suggestion, but it is practical wisdom, welling up for your service, out of the friendly heart of the world.

Obviously, if you want to catch flies, vinegar will be of no use to you—except to preserve them, after you have caught them with something sweet and stickily attractive.

But there are folks who think that they can gain desirable human ends, in utter disregard of the kindly advice of this proverb.

If it is really true that fat men are in disfavor (which should not be the case, since so commonly they are large with laughter and kindliness!) it is undeniable that nobody loves a despot, a bully, a sorehead, or a sourface.

Against the Law

We tolerate—because killing is against the law—these folks who try to growl their way through life, who scold and scowl and tyrannize, and whose presence is as welcome in a group or a community as a contagious disease.

Such a woman moved a friend of the writer lately to compare her face to a lemon pie. By a curious coincidence, a particularly fine specimen of that culinary concoction was served to us a few minutes later, for dessert.

The latter proved and offered an apology to the lemon pie!

That contemptuous, sour and surly spirit used to be the stock-in-trade of parents, teachers, clergymen, and rulers, in dealing authoritatively with children, pupils, parishioners, and subjects.

It does not work—if, indeed, it ever did work! People will not be talked down to.

The "superior" attitude does not control, but is likely to beget self-assertion in the other fellow.

The Day of Democracy is doing away with the mistakenly masterful manner or talk of foolishly patronizing attitude—except in the stupid survivors of the preceding period, before the flood of self-respect had fertilized the people.

The average of us, in this day and generation, has learned the practical wisdom, in common intercourse, of meeting every one with a friendly and respectful face.

Mutual Respect

We catch our flies with molasses.

Not only that, but such a spirit springs naturally from the fertile soil of democratic civilization, where self-respect finds its logical implication in mutual respect.

And we respect ourselves and one another, because we have such regard for the human stuff, that we cannot help but look up reverently to one another, and talk up to one another in kindred spirit.

A divine self-discovery is dawning upon the race. A high expectancy, therefore, begins to characterize our mutual attitude.

Each of us knows: that, if the others will talk up to us and show that they expect the best from us, we shall not disappoint them!

Here, then, is an aspect of tempting flies with molasses which may take you by surprise.

For it predicts a psychological result; namely, that as the appeal is, so the response will be.

Our Day talks up to us; and we are answering in kind.

LENINE IS CLOSE TO PEOPLE'S HEARTS

By Joseph Irwin France

United States Senator from Maryland. From the Senator's Moscow Diary.

(Copyright, 1921, by the Baltimore Sun.)

MOSCOW.—The office of the chairman of the Council of the People's Commissar, Nicolai Lenine, is one of the old Kremlin buildings. It is not a luxurious place for the office of the dominating figure in a government which belongs to more than 150,000,000 people, but, while unostentatious, it is practical and comfortable.

We passed the close scrutiny of a sentinel at the door, and were finally admitted to a very tiny elevator and ascended several floors.

Lenine is one of the most interesting and brilliant of men who have come to power in all history. He is not of noble, but of humble origin. The Russians insist upon this point. His father was a landowning farmer of extraordinary ability, who rose almost as high in the civil service of the Czar as it was possible for one to rise, his rank corresponding to that of a general officer in the army. He was made Minister of Education in the Volga district of Russia, but although his position carried the title of a noble, the nobility so conferred was not hereditary.

His Brother Executed

This man had sons who inherited his talents, but they early became interested in the revolutionary movement. The oldest was executed for being implicated in a revolutionary plot when the present leader of Russia was a boy of 9 years of age. The impression upon this boy of 9 made by his brother's execution was profound and he was early, even as a student, courageously opposing the government. At 19 he had become both a brilliant writer and an orator of note, even in this country of distinguished orators. A little later his activities won him exile to Siberia where he served for several years, working there on the monumental work, which he published in his early twenties, on the economic development of Russia. Since this time he has written much on both economic and philosophic subjects, including a book on the industrial and economic development in the United States.

All these works are monuments to his intellectual power. But, like Trotzky, he is more than a student, writer, economist and orator, and has become a great executive, a leader of men, a statesman of the first rank. Slightly over fifty, he is yet youthful in body and mind, for he continues to grow.

Has Keen Sense of Humor

I saw him at a time when he had been meeting most unusual demands made upon his time and strength because of the presence of many visiting delegates in Moscow, but he was not weary and jaded in appearance. As I went in he greeted me with a genial smile, the bubbling up of good nature. This serious-minded man who dared the wrath of the Czar, fought absolutism, endured exile, faced death, who for a time, until he began to be really known, had to bear the contumely, abuse and malignant hatred of the great countries of the world, has never lost his sense of humor, his boyish love of fun, his generous benevolence, his burning ambition to make the world a place of larger opportunity for all the toiling millions who have never had a chance.

The qualities in Lenine which are bearing such rich fruitage for Russia are not of the hothouse variety. They have withstood the snows and bitter winds of Siberia, his prison years and exile; they increased amidst the rank growing weeds of a wicked age which would have smothered less vigorous plants, but which would have grown to a finer stature and to fruitage on the ash heaps of the world because his greatness is natural and simple and genuine.

Lenine More Popular

These are the qualities which make him universally beloved in Russia. Trotzky also is admired, but of the two Lenine is nearer to the people's hearts. I am told that when the peasants heard the rumor that Lenine and Trotzky were in serious disagreement they thronged to their churches and prayed before their sacred ikons that the contest might be settled in peace. But they prayed that it be fight must go on—Lenine might win. Actually I saw not the slightest evidence of disagreement. That a Government which really has such goodwill and beneficent purposes should fail to convince the people of the honesty and sincerity is unthinkable. The stability of this Government is assured by the fact that the masses of the people know that, whatever its mistakes, it aims to do justice and to act with a view to the advancement of all the people of Russia.
